They're Away This Morning

Million dollars worth of luxury sailing yachts graced Victoria's inner harbor yesterday, waiting for the start of Pacific Northwest's annual yachting classic, the 135-measured-mile Swiftsure race. Start will be from Brotchie ledge at 9.30 a.m. today. The fleet of 20 yachts will remain in sight until they round Race rocks. A live tack-by-tack commentary of the race will be shown in the windows of the T. Eaton Co. store up to 11.30 p.m. Details of the positions of various competitors may be obtained from the Royal Victoria Yacht club, 4-5513, or The Daily Colonist, 3-4111. It is expected the first yachts will reach the finish line here late Sunday night or early Monday.

'Horrible' Situation

Four of Five Mail Thieves Go Scot-Free, Says MP

Officials 'Derelict'

OTTAWA (BUP) — An eight-hour House debate on the affairs of the post office department ended Friday after Opposition members complained about "horrible" thefts from post offices.

William Hamilton (PC-Montreal Notre Dame de Grace) led the attack on the department. The House went through the $133,000,000 estimates in less than 20 minutes once the general debate was wound up.

Hamilton said he was "horrified" by the number of post office thefts in recent months.

"This record indicates that adequate care and attention is not being taken to Her Majesty's mails. The post office is derelict in following through once a theft has occurred . . . and in prosecuting those responsible for it," he said.

"I really must protest," Pickersgill interrupted at one point. "Is (Hamilton) suggesting that there is any deliberate intent on the part of anyone connected with the post office to connive at these thefts . . . or fails to do his duty in prosecuting?

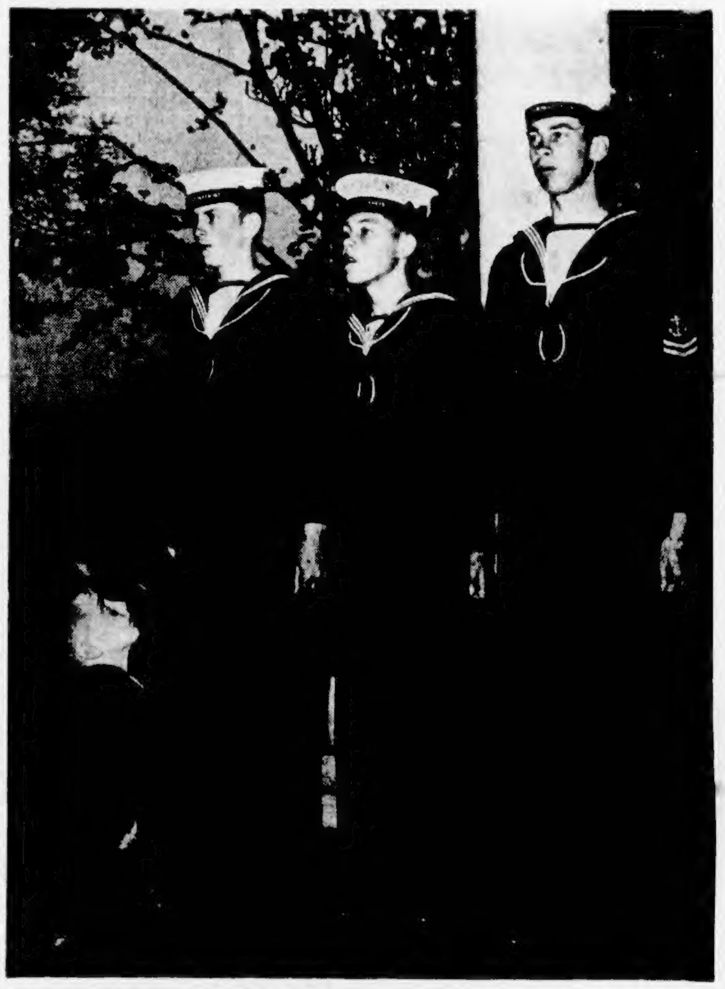
"There is not a jot or tittle of truth in it," he snapped.

Hamilton said his criticism was of the "extremely weak investigatory work" in the department. He said there was a "steady uptrend" in thefts and in the amount of money stolen from post offices.

According to figures given to him by the department, he said, "Four out of five persons who steal from the post office get off scot free."

Pickersgill pointed out that prosecutions were not the responsibility of the post office department.

Boy Eyes Future



Some day he will be a Sea Cadet, but last night John Greig, seven, had to be content with a close-up look at cadets taking part in the first sunset ceremonial of the season. Sea Cadets, left to right, are Michael Roberts, Michael Muirhead, Gary Sturrock. More than 1,500 persons watched the ceremony.

'Too Many Bloodsuckers'

'Bad Risk' Loans Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said Friday there is need for some government-backed institution in Canada to provide small loans at low fixed interest rates to persons who have no credit standing.

It is "shocking," he told the Commons, that the small loan borrower has to pay 24 per cent annual interest. It was "usurious" and indicated the characteristics of "bloodsuckers."

There are "too many of these bloodsuckers in this country ready to live on the avails of destitution," Mr. Low said.

What is needed, Mr. Low said, is some government-backed agency, either provincial or federal, where such a person could get money quickly and cheaply in small amounts to meet emergencies.

He spoke on a bill introduced by Hazen Argue (CCF — Assiniboia) to cut the monthly interest rate under the Small Loans Act to one per cent from two. The act regulates finance companies in the small loans field.

The Social Credit leader said the whole matter of small loans should be thoroughly studied by a parliamentary committee, perhaps at the next session.

W. M. Benidickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Harris, also suggested the matter should be taken up next session. It was too late to give it adequate study now.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said the finance companies should be put "out of business." They got most of their money from insurance companies and banks at four per cent interest and then loaned it to the public at 24 per cent per annum.

Increase Called For

UN Aid Termed 'Token Program'

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said Friday the United Nations technical assistance program for under-developed countries now is no more than a "token program" or "gesture of good will."

The Canadian director-general of the UN technical assistance administration told the UN Association in Canada that no serious indentation can be made on the problem unless the contributing countries increase their grants. He suggested increases of 20 per cent a year during the next few years.

Earlier, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the same group:

"I think it would be a mistake for us to become preoccupied with the matter of amount (of money given under-developed countries) to a point where we lose sight of the question of quality, which is also important. . . .

"Even the most massive amounts of money and vast numbers of technicians, if provided in the wrong way — that is, indiscriminately, extravagantly or without proper regard for the practical problems involved—might accomplish less than our present programs and might in the process create a less wholesome relationship between the under-developed countries and the West."

Dr. Keenleyside's remarks before the association were substantially the same as his testimony earlier in the day before the Commons external affairs committee.

He said that in the last 18 months his agency has had to turn down four requests for aid for each one it has granted.

Some 75 countries have contributed about $28,000,000 to the UN technical assistance program this year. Canada's contribution is $1,500,000. Twenty countries, not including Canada, increased their grants this year.

Dr. Keenleyside said some nations which needed help were getting discouraged because they could not obtain the requested technical assistance.

'Wanton Waste'

CHICAGO (UP)—Millions of holiday-happy Americans turned the nation's highways into a frustrating mass of automobiles Friday night as they rushed to celebrate the first holiday of the summer.

The national safety council predicted that 360 persons would die in highway crashes during the three-day Memorial Day weekend, starting at 6 p.m. Friday night and ending at midnight Monday, in a "wanton waste" of human lives.

Craig Denies Licence Deal

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sam Craig, Tofino logging operator, denied Friday that he had been involved in a "deal" to suppress an appeal against a forest management licence.

In telephone interviews with two Vancouver newspapers, Craig said former Liberal member of the legislature Gordon Gibson had the facts wrong in his testimony to the Sloan royal commission.

Gibson testified Thursday that Craig, partner and manager of the C. and B. Logging Co. at Tofino, had accepted a promise of 26,000,000 feet of timber in exchange for withdrawing his appeal against granting a licence to B.C. Forest Products Ltd. in the Clayoquot area.

Craig said Friday he would seek a hearing next weekend before the commission to present his side of the story.

"I had asked the government for permission to purchase cutting rights for two lots of timber in the jublic working circle—one for 20,000,000 board feet and another for 8,000,000 feet.

"Both the government and the company were very co-operative. The cabinet told me they could not sell me the timber until the forest management licence had been negotiated.

"H. G. Munro, president of B.C. Forest Products, offered to work out any differences that might arise between us."

Craig said that as a result of these "friendly discussions" the company had sold him the 20,000,000 board feet at the market price. Now the government has put the other 8,000,000 feet up for sale and Craig is buying it.

The logging operator denied that there was any "hotel room deal" as Gibson charged.

B.C. Forest Products didn't invite him to a January 26 meeting, he said, "I phoned them and made the appointment.'

Tory Victory Spurs Stocks

LONDON (Reuters) — Industrial share values rose to their highest level in history Friday as the London market responded to a Conservative victory.

Yachts, Cadets, Chanties Give Causeway Crowd Nautical Night

Victorians last night wree treated to their first waterfront entertainment of the summer season.

About 1,500 persons lined the causeway on Government and Belleville to see yachts entered in today's Swiftsure classic and to hear the Meistersingers give a concert of sea chanties from the deck of the schooner Black Dog.

The crowd shifted to the Legislative Buildings grounds to watch the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps present the sunset ceremonial.

Seventeen of the entries in the Swiftsure race were in full dress in the Inner harbor when becaped Mayor Claude Harrison, F. W. Nicolls, commodore of the Royal Victoria Yacht club, and Andrew Wright, vice-commodore of the Pacific International Yachting association, visited all the yachts to extend an official welcome.

As they moved among the million dollars' worth of luxury craft, W. H. Colby described each yacht over a public address system, giving their dimensions, history and racing records.

The sunset ceremonial was the first of a series that will be presented every week untill the end of August by navy, army and militia units.

The sea cadet bugle, drum, and trumpet band led the 21-man guard and two divisions of cadets to the grounds, and performance of the ceremony which dates back to the Crusades was almost letter-perfect.

Lieut. W. W. Ross was parade commander and Lieut. H. E. Renton guard commander. Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur Dando gave a commentary of the ceremonial as it was performed.

The Meistersingers under the direction of F. Dudley Wicket gave a performance that pleased everyone in the crowd.

Songs from HMS Pinafore, sea chanties and nautical ditties formed the program. The singers, dressed in white shirts, stood out well against the black hull of the schooner as they put lively action into most of their renditions.

Strike at Midnight

Move 'Too Late' Say U.K. Railmen

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government failed Friday night in an attempt to arrange some last-minute conciliation which could avert a country-wide railroad strike set for midnight tonight.

Union officials, who ordered locomotive engineers and firemen to quit work in demand for higher pay scales, said the government conciliation offer came "too late."

Eden's cabinet conferred for 70 minutes Friday night at 10 Downing street on the threatened rail crisis.

The last-minute conciliation offer had come from the transport ministry after Eden had conferred with Transport Minister Sir Walter Monckton. The government offered to set up a board of reconciliation to handle the dispute.

Faced with the prospect of no regular train service, the government set up a system of priority items—mail, food, coal, medicine and newspapers—to be carried on the few trains likely to run.

Co-operation Does Trick

Boy, 4, Swept to Sea; Saved

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A four-year-old boy owes his life to villagers, a mercy plane and an inhalator crew after he floated out to sea on the tide.

Matthew Vickers, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vickers of Kitkatla, was in good condition here Friday after escaping death by drowning.

The boy was spotted floating face down off Kitkatla beach by Rev. Samuel Kinley, Anglican minister.

Mr. Kinley plunged into rescue the boy but had to be helped out of difficulties himself by fishermen who put out in a boat.

A team of fishermen kept up artificial respiration for an hour before the arrival of Dr. J. A. MacDonald and firemen Jack Franks of Prince Rupert.

The men and an inhalator were flown to the scene by Queen Charlotte Airlines.

"The child responded immediately the inhalator was applied," Dr. MacDonald said.

The boy is believed to have fallen off a float and drifted out to sea. He was missing about 15 minutes before he was discovered.

Single Gems Up to $14,000 . . . . . . And Acres of Them

New Lode Touches Off Diamond Rush

JOHANNESBURGH, South Africa (NANA)—A diamond rush which promises to be one of the richest in South Africa's gem-strewn history is under way.

Enthusiastic reports from the new gem front, which has been opened in remote bush country at Bellsbank, northwest of Kimberley, tell of prospectors finding "hundreds" of gems. A settlement of hastily built huts, tents and stone structures just high enough for a man to lie down in has sprung up around the 1,000-acre tract where the fossicking is concentrated.

Most prospectors have been granted individual claims of 25 yards square on the diamond field, which stretches for some 500 yards along a six-foot wide fissure.

In this fissure the diamond-hunters, aided by natives, are digging frantically for gems—and finding them.

Biggest validated find at Bellsbank has been a diamond weighing nearly half an ounce that sold for more than $14,000 Others have brought $11,- to $12,000. Gems worth $2,000 or more are being unearthed almost daily.

Diamond diggers returning here, some with their pockets full of jewels they expect will net them a fortune, recount how the hunters must blast their way through solid rock to reach the "yellow ground" which is yielding the diamonds.

Some use compressors and pneumatic drills, while others, too excited to wait out equipment delivery, are employing the same sort of tools used in the famous Kimberley diamond rush of 80 years ago.

Some diggers have gone 30 feet into the ground, as native laborers fill buckets which are hauled to the top by derricks.

The fortune hunters are hoping to reach a stratum of the so-called "blue ground," the even richer mineral from which the diamonds of Kimberley's mines are extracted. Many of the prospectors are convinced that Bellsbank will produce fabulous wealth.

Diamond buyers here describe the diamonds found at Bellsbank as of top class.

The Bellsbank strike is bringing a boom to the diamond-buying market of Barkly West, 45 miles away, centre of the alluvial digging along the banks of the Vaal river.

At Kimberley itself, centre of the world's diamond-mining industry, William Gallagher, general manager of the de Beers group of mines, said that millions of pounds of gems were now being extracted from mine-rock dumps once thought useless. Modern equipment is tracing the small "waste" diamonds left unextracted by the former less-efficient methods.

One hundred miles north of Kimberley, at Schweitzer-Reneke on the Harts river, another frontier was opened in the unending search for diamonds when the first digging licences were issued last week.

Among the applicants for licences, according to government officials, are many widows of former prospectors who, like their husbands, are also stricken with diamond fever.

It is just 50 years ago that the dream of every diamond digger came true for Frederick Wells, an employee of a mine near Pretoria. Wells was out strolling when he spotted the glitter of a gem near the mine surface. He had found the 3,025-carat Cullinan, history's biggest diamond. It is now, in separate parts, in the British crown jewels. His rewards a bonus of £2,000.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MUCH space in the letters column is eaten up by dismal squabbles between atheists and Christians.

Not being a philosopher, I can't find my way through the tangled, muddy battle lines. I want to believe, and I want to doubt. So I remain like so many other people, a neutral with a split mind.

Neither faction will recognize neutrality. In this position I am exposed to scornful attacks by both sides. So like all the other soldiers in the great passive army of cowards, I shut my eyes and pretend the struggle does not exist.

* * *

But I feel that if I wandered into the fray as an immigrant from another planet, I would favor the Christians. They seem less bigoted and more kindly.

The atheists seem driven by religious fervor; the Christians prompted by human feeling. This is no argument, only an impression of some of the people I see.

A great number of those ranged on the atheist side are tedious bores and fanatics; a great number of those who speak for the faith are helpers of humanity.

* * *

Christians defend their faith not because it is socially useful, but because they believe it to be true. And yet it has been socially useful.

Suppose, for example, that it were false. All a dream. What a wonderful dream it has been, these 2,000 years. It has done harm, but infinitely more good. It has given us law and mercy.

Regardless of its truth, it has been the greatest civilizing force of the West.

* * *

For this reason alone—temporarily forgetting all the other reasons—I would question the wisdom of destroying it by violence, leaving millions of its followers adrift in a meaningless universe.

I question the motives of the fighting atheists. They say they are destroyers of error and seekers of truth, and perhaps they are; but many of them are also strange, hag-ridden people, emotionally twisted by some experience of childhood.

* * *

If religious faith is as false as they say, why do they make such a fuss to destroy it? The thing would destroy itself in time.

* * *

If I became convinced that a religion had to be killed and imagined myself appointed executioner, I would try to do it painlessly, causing the least possible harm to its faithful.

I would feel like a man whose dog had to be destroyed because of age and failing eyesight. I wouldn't take it to the town square and blow the poor creature up with a hand grenade; but lead it to a quiet place, pat its head, and shoot it.

This is an unfortunate and blasphemous figure of speech, but I mean well.

Garden Notes

Newcomers Find Techniques Differ

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Today's notes are addressed particularly to those newcomers in our midst who have moved here from the Prairies, and who are finding themselves a bit baffled by Vancouver Island gardening techniques.

The first big change you will notice is the fact that a lot of plants will stand outside all through the winter without damage. Such things as certain varieties of cabbage, kale and broad beans in the vegetable patch, for instance, can take up to about 10 or 12 degrees of frost, while in a mild winter, peas, sweet peas and lamb's lettuce has a pretty fair chance of coming through unscathed. Among the flowers, snapdragons, wallflowers, forget-me-nots and the colorful English polyanthus primroses are all set out in flower beds in the fall to make an early spring display, along with the spring-flowering bulbs.

PLANT LATER

This gives rise to one peculiarity which will be rather strange to you. Actually, we buy our flats of summer bedding plants—the salvias, petunias, geraniums and the like—and set them out in the flower beds out front somewhat later than you did back in Calgary or Regina. You are accustomed to plant your flower beds sometime between May 24 and June 1, which you could do because your flower beds were empty.

Our beds are still occupied and in full bloom, filled with wallflowers, primroses or tulips, and it is often as late as the middle of June before the spring display begins to go off, and the plants which were set out the previous fall are pulled up to make way for the summer bedding plants.

If you are starting from scratch, go ahead and plant your front flower beds with petunias or salvia or whatever bedding-out annuals take your fancy. But remember that the beds are going to have to support plant life for 12 months of the year, and you must take advantage of every opportunity to dig in fresh supplies of manure, compost, peat moss or whatever materials you can lay your hands on to maintain the supply of humus-forming matter in your soil.

SELF-SOWING

One rather pleasant combination of plants which are set out in the fall for a spring display is the brilliant orange Siberian wallflower, interplanted with forget-me-nots. When these are lifted along about this time of the year, I throw the pulled-up forget-me-not plants onto some freshly raked soil among the shrubs, because the forget-me-not has the happy faculty of ripening and dropping its seed even after the plant is uprooted. Later on in the year, I'll find the ground covered with all kinds of self-sown seedlings which I can transplant for next spring's display.

The wallflower plants get a little different treatment. I keep a pair of pruning secateurs in my hip pocket as I work, and as each plant is pulled up, I cut off the roots and throw them to one side to be burnt, while the stems are cut up into two-inch lengths and allowed to fall on the bed, where they are dug in along with a dressing of fertilizer, about a cupful to the square yard.

The bed is then raked level, trodden down, given a dusting of hydrated lime—1½ cupfuls to the square yard—and given a final raking, which leaves it in perfect condition to receive its summer occupants.

Cheque Helps Clinic's Work

Two of the youngsters making good progress at the Cerebral Palsy Association's clinic at Royal Jubilee hospital gave their thanks yesterday to Mrs. Eileen Kullman, representing Victoria Pythian Sisters. She brought them a cheque for $1,000 to help the clinic's work. Linda Hawes, 3231 Harriet, 7, and Jeffrey Newstead of Sooke, 10, showed their gratitude.

Elaine Suggested For Chinook's Run

Princess Elaine, veteran CPR steamer which has plied coastal waters for more than 15 years, is the latest ship suggested in plans to fill the void left by the move of Black Ball's Mv. Chinook to the Nanaimo-Vancouver run.

Elaine was listed as the better of two proposals when Victoria Chamber of Commerce officials telephoned CPR headquarters in Vancouver yesterday to lend weight to an earlier request for assistance.

The other plan involved use of the day steamer from Vancouver on a single daily round trip across Juan de Fuca Strait.

CPR executives, after receiving the proposals, reversed an earlier decision to discuss the matter yesterday and promised to "think it over during the week-end."

It is expected that they will begin discussions Monday.

Meanwhile, Washington State Ferries denied reports that it was negotiating with Black Ball Line Ltd., and Mayor Claude Harrison turned back the pages of history to lend force to his argument that the Victoria-Port Angeles ferry service must continue.

N. R. Crump of Montreal, CPR president, sent similar replies to the request of Victoria and Port Angeles Chambers of Commerce for assistance, and to the mayor's telegram stating the CPR bears a "heavy responsibility" for the problem because of its decision to compete with Black Ball here.

His telegrams read: "Have your telegram yesterday re ferry service and matter receiving attention."

Hector Crombie, managing secretary of the chamber, said the CPR plans to add both the Elaine and Princess of Vancouver to the Nanaimo-Vancouver run June 17, reducing number of daily round trips by the Princess Joan or Princess Elizabeth from two to one.

Under the chamber's plan, Elaine would make three or four round trips each day, and the Joan or Elizabeth would continue their present service from Nanaimo to Vancouver.

This would give the CPR nine daily round trips between Nanaimo and Vancouver during the summer, compared to 10

H. G. Swendson of Washington State Ferries said there was "no possibility to our knowledge" that the WSF ferry Kalakala could leave Bremerton-Seattle service for the Victoria-Port Angeles run, and said, "There are no ferries available in the United States for purchase."

"It's a pretty hopeless situation but we are looking at all angles to see if there is any possibility of switching schedules of our 21 vessels," he said.

Mayor Harrison charged the federal government with not living up to the terms of union under which B.C. entered confederation.

The government of that day agreed to provide an efficient mail service between Victoria and San Francisco and also promised a twice-a-week service between Victoria and Olympia.

Cadets Must Prove Age

Army cadets must provide proof of age before they can go to summer camp.

Lieut. Cyril A. Burley, chief instructor of the 119th Battery cadet corps, asked members of his corps to bring birth certificates to Friday's parade. The certificates will be forwarded with applications for camp.

Cadet camp will be held in June at Sarcee, Alta; Vernon and Jericho Beach.

The 119th Battery cadet corps is looking for boys who want to train as bandsmen. They need not be able to play a musical instrument, but if they can pass an aptitude test at Ward's musical store, they will be trained.

Solarium Expecting Drive To Top Goal

Directors of the Queen Alexandra Solarium are hopeful that the public campaign for $534,000 to help build a new Solarium at Gordon Head will be over-subscribed, president Justin Harbord of the board of directors said yesterday.

At a meeting which launched the advance gifts section of the drive, Mr. Harbord said indications are that an expansion of the new building from a proposed 64 to 96 beds will be required "in a very short time."

Construction is to take place next year, but present Solarium property at Mill Bay, sale of which was to provide funds for the expansion, may not be sold for some years.

Hubert A. Wallace, general co-chairman of the campaign, explained that advance-gift canvassers will visit persons in higher income tax brackets.

Goal of the advance campaign is $83,000, and this drive is separate from the one-hour blitz for $67,000 to be held in Greater Victoria June 28.

Navy Warns Of Firing

Anti-aircraft and surface firing practice will be carried out by HMCS Cayuga and Athabaskan in the Strait of Georgia between Nanoose and Sechelt next Tuesday to Friday.

Firing will be during daylight hours, with addition of night practice Wednesday and Thursday. Practice will be continued June 6 and 7.

Strikes Threaten Britain in Wake Of Tory Victory

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's triumphant Conservative party Friday [illegible] the century by a majority of some 60 seats and finally broke the virtual political stalemate of the last five years.

With only two of the 630 constituencies involved in Thursday's voting still to report, Sir Anthony Eden's "new Tories" had captured 344 House of Commons seats against 277 for the opposition Labor party led by Clement Attlee. The Liberals had five members and two belonged to the Irish extremist Sinn Fein organization.

Eden, thus confirmed as premier only 51 days after he took over the office from Sir Winston Churchill, promptly called a "victory" meeting of his cabinet. But the government, with a mandate for another five years, faces possible trouble on the industrial front spearheaded by the threat of a national railway strike.

In a five-minute television appearance he was "grateful" to them for having "generously accorded us the working majority for which I asked."

He pledged that his government would be "neither blind nor indifferent to the many difficulties which clearly face us," specifying industrial disputes. He smiled cheerfully throughout the talk.

Televiewers next saw Attlee, looking tired and dispirited. The Labor party leader blamed apathy among young voters, divisions in his party and an anti-Labor antagonism aroused by strike threats for the defeat.

All party leaders emerged unscathed, including Liberal Clement Davies. In addition, 24 women members were returned to what will be the first new Parliament of the Queen's reign. This total equalled the record set in 1945.

CHURCHILL BACK AGAIN

Sir Winston Churchill, fighting his 15th national election in a 55-year span, easily won Woodford and remains an ordinary member of Parliament in his 81st year.

Candidates of Canadian origin or background did well. One notable performance was recorded by Cmdr. Charles Donaldson, Conservative, formerly of Vancouver, who increased his majority in a Scottish constituency from 829 to 7,170.

One of the strangest election developments came in Northern Ireland where a Sinn Fein candidate, imprisoned for an armed attack on a British military barracks, was elected to Parliament from the Mid - Ulster constituency. The jailed candidate was Thomas Mitchell, whose Sinn Fein organization is dedicated to uniting Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic by force if necessary.

His election will have no effect on his prison sentence and he will be unable to take his seat.

NEW 5-YEAR MANDATE

The nation's verdict means that the conservatives have received a five-year mandate with far greater parliamentary authority than they wielded with their slim 17-seat margin in the old House of Commons.

Not in 90 years had the party in power been able to [illegible] majority in a parliamentary election.

Queen Elizabeth got word of the Conservative win through a radio installed in the royal box at Epsom, where she watched the Oaks, a turf classic. She will preside at the ceremonial opening of the new Parliament on June 14.

Life Sentence Heaviest Ever For Robbery

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—A 38-year-old venetian blind manufacturer will serve the heaviest sentence a British Columbia court has ever handed out for armed robbery.

John Wasylenchuk was sentenced to life imprisonment here Friday for his part in the $29,000 holdup of a Burnaby branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

His counsel, E. F. Whiffen, said he would appeal the sentence as "way out of proportion."

Two other men who shot as they ran from the holdup scene were sentenced earlier to 20 years and three whippings of seven strokes each.

U.S. Tightens Vaccine Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. government cleared the way Friday for a fresh start in polio vaccinations—with new, extra-sensitive safety tests. But chances were dim that all children 1 to 9 could get their Salk vaccine shots before the peak of this year's polio season.

Surgeon - General Leonard A. Scheele announced vaccine would start flowing from the laboratories in a very short time under tight new safety standards established by the government and finally accepted by all the manufacturers.

Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby called the agreement a heartening "ray of sunshine." She also took occasion to deny categorically a rumor of high-level political intervention on behalf of one vaccine manufacturer whose product has been withdrawn from circulation temporarily.

Some 6,000,000 persons have been inoculated since the program, at a virtual standstill for three weeks while the government reschecked safety procedures, was started in mid-April.

Scheele described himself as "very optimistic now" about the program's future. He said he hoped to announce in a day or so when the first vaccine produced with the new safety tests will be released. And he said inoculation of first and second graders then will "go forward rapidly."

'They Were Hanging from Every Window' Fireman Says After Disastrous Hotel Fire

NELSON, B. C. (CP) — The young and the very old died early Friday when fire roared through the 35-room Strathcona hotel here.

Four charred bodies were taken from the ruins of the 50-year-old building during the day. Two are still sought.

Earlier, the dead and missing list was placed at seven, but Mrs. Clara Vine, whose name was on the early list, was found safe.

The bodies recovered were those of a young boy, a young girl, an elderly man, and an aged woman.

IDENTIFY TWO

Only two were identified, Miss Harmi Shimoto, 18-year-old Japanese bank clerk, and Quinton MacDonald, pioneer Nelson carpenter.

The unidentified dead and missing are: John T. Price, 89; Mrs. G. W. Edy, 70; Mrs. Walter Sinclair, 74, and Rudy Symington, nine-year-old boy, whose mother and 10-year-old sister escaped.

There were 51 guests in the three-storey hotel when the fire broke out about 1 a. m.

"It was what I imagined hell must be like," said 19-year-old Rolin Joseph Peck, a Nelson fireman, who told his story from hospital where he is recovering from smoke fumes.

HUNG FROM WINDOWS

"When I arrived flames were shooting over the front and west side of the building. People were hanging out of every window on the east side. We immediately threw up ladders.

"I saw an old lady close to 90 on the top floor. I could see the flames behind her. I went up and brought her down."

Screams filled the hotel as men, women and children fought their way down smoke-filled hallways from flaming bedrooms.

Young Peck saved three other guests, and nearly lost his own life.

"I thought for sure I was a goner," he said. "I groped my [illegible] out on the ledge."

Other firemen rescued him minutes before the whole building collapsed.

Property damage was estimated at $85,000.

Fire chief E. S. Owens said the flames spread with horrible swiftness.

For some, an old woman in a wheelchair, an old man who hobbled on a cane, there was no escape.

Some of those trapped on window ledges jumped to the ground.

Paul Franck, 28-year-old typewriter serviceman, was one of the guests who clung to a window ledge.

"I could feel my fingers burning as I hung onto the hot cement [illegible] ground," he said. "To me it looked like the end of the world. . .

"I made a dash for the window and slid out until I was just hanging by my fingertips. I remember screaming my lungs out, shouting for help."

Firemen ran an aerial ladder up and brought him to safety.

Decisive Conservative Victory

THE return of Rt. Hon. Sir Anthony Eden's government in Great Britain by so decisive a majority as at least 60 seats is not only a personal success for him, in a difficult train of succession from one of the outstanding figures of modern times, but also a clear-cut Conservative victory. The Conservatives received almost precisely half of the popular vote, or more than Labor and Liberals combined, and picked up not less than 20 seats to add to their existing majority over all parties in the House of Commons. Eighteen of the 20 Conservative gains reported were from Labor; Liberals dropped one, and other parties combined one.

Postmortems will follow, but the result is the thing that counts. What breaks of luck there were in the test went to Sir Anthony Eden and the Conservatives. Electors in the United Kingdom evidently had their own views as to the meaning of the Attlee-Bevan split and what that portended for the future. Two wildcat strikes in the middle of the election did Mr. Attlee some harm, through no fault on his part as his re-election indicated. What swing there was in the popular vote was towards the right and had a definite influence in the result of the election. The Eden administration with this strong endorsement will have a more practical working strength in Parliament; while the new Parliament itself by being well balanced between two major groups, implies security for the nation.

Abroad the British election should have a stabilizing influence in the international field. Canada could have worked co-operatively with either of the two main parties, but the decisive nature of the election will be helpful and may clear the air with regard to Anglo-Canadian negotiations on a wide range of matters. Western Europe will no doubt welcome the decision as the pledge of continuity in British support of defence steps. Moscow may not be too pleased, but the failure of Bevanism was the most strongly marked factor in the test. For the world at large, stability and continuity in the British political structure will be welcome and encouraging signs. Such issues may outweigh the personal victory of Sir Anthony Eden, but in the light of all the circumstances it too was a distinguished one.

One feature of the British voting will strike most Canadians sharply, and that is the fact that the polling of about three-quarters of the eligible electors was regarded overseas as an "apathetic" turnout. Such a result in this country would have been hailed as a heavy public vote; so that we have still some things to learn from the Mother of Parliaments, old in precedent but wise in its knowledge of human nature.

Bullies in Uniform

AN incident in Seattle which involved a Canadian invites the reminder that a policeman's uniform confers no right to inflict physical abuse on a prisoner or any person detained on any charge. Differing concepts may prevail in different places but basically a police force is the guardian of a community's interests and not an instrument of punishment. The occasion should not arise where anyone temporarily in police charge is placed at the mercy of virtually third-degree methods or otherwise caused to suffer bodily pain or harm. The temptations of brief authority being what they are this principle of justice perhaps cannot be stressed too often, even if only as a precaution in areas free of such misdirected action.

It is perfectly true that policemen often have an awkward problem on their hands when obdurate individuals make arrest difficult or obstruct them in the legitimate performance of their duty. The velvet glove may have to be peeled off and what is termed necessary force employed. Justice is not served either when police officers are beaten up. Yet inevitably the advantage lies with the men in uniform and it should be their care to exert only the minimum force necessary in almost any given circumstance. When an individual is so badly hurt as to require hospital treatment obviously someone has overstepped the bounds and then some. No provocation whatsoever can excuse such conduct on the part of a police force.

Happily the record of the Greater Victoria police departments is free of this kind of blemish, and long may it stay that way. There have even been instances here where the patrolman suffered the hurt rather than vice versa, but it is better that this risk be accepted as an occupational hazard than that a private citizen, even though he be rambunctious and hard to handle, should be the victim of bullying tactics. A man in uniform should never be like some of the customers he is called upon to deal with—a hoodlum. Noting as one does cases that erupt periodically elsewhere it is regrettable that this concept is not adhered to everywhere on this continent.

So Very, Very Genteel

HANSARD records of debates in Parliament are commonly supposed to be complete records of everything said there, in the exact words used by the members. That, however, is far from being the truth. Hansard reports are extensively edited in much the same way as a kind-hearted newspaperman saves a stumbling public speaker from making a fool of himself by translating garbled and awkward phrases into intelligible form. Members of Parliament who are weak on syntax can safely leave it to the Hansard men to correct their mistakes.

There are good and bad sides to this system. Hansard would make tedious and almost impossible reading if it left sentences hanging in mid-air, where many speakers so often leave them; or if every "er" and "um" was faithfully taken down. On the other hand the stereotyped correctness of Hansard grammar and sentence construction creates the false impression that every member of the House is a master of the English tongue.

While there is much to be said for Hansard editing up to a point, the editors seem to have over-reached themselves in liberties taken with a member's choice of words in a recent debate. This member spoke of "barnacles on the backside of progress." There is a Churchillian flavor of originality in that expression; but it must have offended the sensibilities of the man with the blue pencil, because what came out in Hansard the next day was a pallid cliche. "Barnacles on the backside" was turned into "brakes on the wheels," a hackneyed metaphor which contained nothing like the vigor of the original phrase.

A Canadian Press report about the switch of metaphors attributed it to "the alchemy of Commons decorum." Decorum be hanged! It was a piece of impertinence on the part of an excessively genteel arbiter of what is fit for the pages of the House records. If he had had the nerve to do anything like that with one of Sir Winston's forceful and earthy expressions, what a scorching that would have provoked! And if Mr. Speaker didn't find "backside" offensive to the dignity of the House, what business had anyone else to put into a member's mouth words that he hadn't used and which took all the sting out of his comment?

Interpreting the News

The Kruschev Version

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

PEOPLE who wonder why Russia's recent campaign of sweetness and light has dispelled so little of the gloom surrounding international relations have only to consider the speech of Nikita Kruschev at Belgrade.

Standing right beside President Tito, who certainly knows the true story of the Russian-Yugoslav break in 1948, Kruschev presented an incredibly distorted version. It was one of the most blatant manifestations ever of the Communist way of thinking that if they say a thing is so, it is so.

* * *

Yet these are the same people who want the world to ban atomic bombs and accept their word that they won't violate the agreement.

These are the same people who said that if West Germany was brought into the Western European Union it would mean the end of negotiations for reunification of all Germany, but who now have accepted an invitation to negotiate.

Above all, these are the people who expect their word to mean something in approaching general settlements of East-West tensions.

* * *

What happened in 1948 was this:

Tito had been a disciple of the Kremlin. He had established a Communist regime, and made almost as much of a show against the West as did Stalin. He was also making a strenuous though badly handicapped effort to build up an industrial economy.

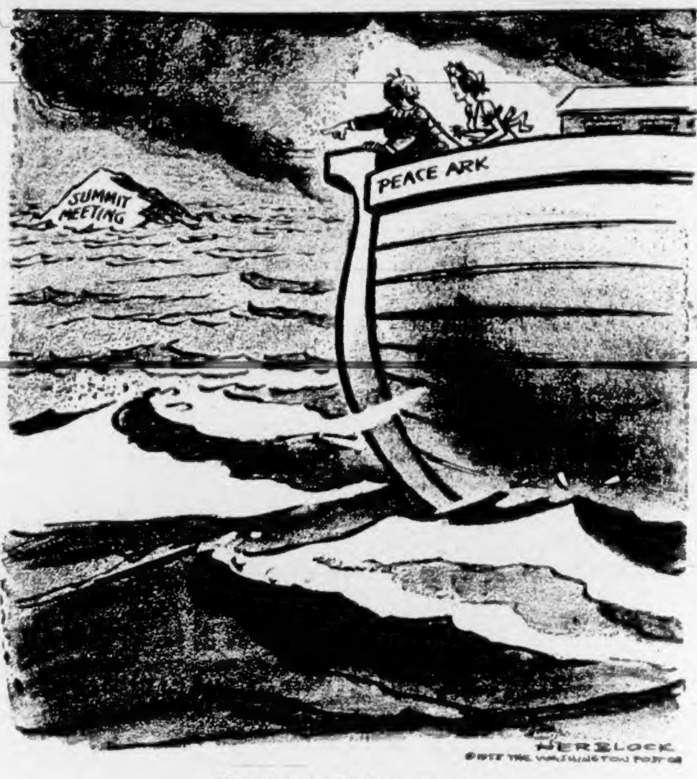
Stalin said No, we'll take your raw materials, and fill your consumer needs. Tito said Oh, no, you won't, and Stalin read him out of international Communism's ranks.

* * *

It was Tito who got Stalin's letters covering all of this. But Kruschev stood there and tried to tell the Yugoslav dictator to his face that it was a couple of dead men, Beria and Abakumov, who actually did it.

In effect, Kruschev was saying, "Let the dead bury their errors. Come back home to international Communism and stop flirting with these Westerners."

Tito just looked at him, making no reply.



"Maybe A Parking Place"

Luck Needed

By FRANK KELLEY

"AGE cannot wither nor custom stale her infinite variety." So wrote a great dramatist of the long ago about a leading character in one of his more colorful dramas.

The same sweeping description could apply even more appropriately to the infinite variety of moods the Strait of Juan de Fuca can present from day to day to anyone desirious of challenging and conquering, in a test of courage and endurance-swimming, the 18 miles between Victoria and Port Angeles where all its infinite varieties are liable to be encountered any day—like varying degrees of breeze and wave at the surface, of temperatures beneath it, in addition to multiple strengths of currents met with after the flooding tidal stream fans out on passing Race Rocks and mingles with the last of the ebb flowing out of Puget Sound and through Gulf Islands channels.

* * *

When Victoria-domiciled fishermen managed to make a living out of what the waters yielded between Constance Bank and Race Rocks one frequently heard of their daily troubles, caused mainly by tides.

Those were the days before kerosene, naptha and gasoline became popular and tides had to be "bucked" the hard way with a pair of ash oars. Regarding water temperatures, the boys and men who patronized Horseshoe Bay and other parts of the outside waterfront were about the only ones who could speak with authority. With chattering teeth they talked of the cold around beach-wood fires when Horseshoe Bay was the most popular bathing spot in this area. It was gradually left to the few who seemed to be able to take the cold and get along without the beach-fire. In the meantime, it had been mooted as a site for an improved swimming pool, walled in and heated artificially.

* * *

Juan de Fuca Strait has always appeared to me as a restless body of water, good to look at always and particularly so during the months of August and September, during which it provided some days for pleasant sailing when yachting was a favorite pastime.

One does not remember many days, however, when its surface would present what mariners were in the habit of describing as "slick calm", when there wouldn't be any breeze to ruffle its surface. In those other years at week-ends, maybe for a Saturday afternoon or overnight visit, Port Angeles would be the goal of certain ardent yachtsmen like Harry Barnes, Charlie Mallandaine and George Finlayson. Those skippers picked week-ends when the tides would be favorable and made them jibe with their planning. Some days the breeze was light, but generally brisk.

* * *

Prevailing winds in those months were westerly, so the Saturday afternoon jaunts, with the flood starting anywhere near the noon hour, would entail a sail toward Race Rocks, when, if ahead of time it would be idled away until "catspaws" indicated the tide was on the turn and would bring the westerly wind with it. Then with tide favorable and breeze on the starboard quarter it would be an exhilarating sail all the way to Port Angeles. This summer-afternoon flood tide was invariably accompanied by a westerly breeze, which created some variety on the surface and would sometimes be of breaking height.

For everything to be favorable for a swimmer to get from Victoria to Port Angeles, one believes the swimmer who can stand the cold has yet to have a lot of luck when the essay is made. The temperature of the water varies little, and with no wind or breaking waves—a slick calm" for instance—chances would be at their best. Sometime it could be just that way for one with a bit of luck in choosing the right time. So we wish all challengers just that.

Reports from Ottawa

THE American airmen who'll be operating radar stations in the Canadian Arctic will not be permitted, by order of our government, to fraternize with the local Eskimo girls.

This was made clear in the exchange of notes between the Canadian and United States government which established ground rules for American construction and operation of the distant early warning (DEW) radar chain along the rim of the Arctic Ocean. While Eskimo women aren't mentioned specifically, they are included in a general prohibition on contact with Eskimos.

The ban covers all Eskimos except any whom the Canadian authorities may allow to work at the American bases. All other contact with the natives "is to be avoided except in cases of emergency," Ottawa has ruled.

* * *

This unusual racial segregation policy, which has never been applied to white Canadians, is explained as being necessary to protect the Eskimos.

The irony of Canada seeking to protect Eskimos from airmen stationed in the bleak barrens to protect Canadian and American cities from atomic attack by the Russians apparently has escaped the bureaucrats in Ottawa who are concerned with Eskimo affairs. They assert flatly that they don't want the Eskimos subjected to the "softening" influences of life at American military posts, or exposed to such white men's diseases as measles and influenza.

I've talked to Arctic experts who contend that many of the Eskimos' difficulties stem from their adoption of white men's ways, so that they lose the ability to live off the land. Moreover, there's medical evidence that the natives have little natural resistance to even the relatively innocuous diseases of civilization. However, the experts are not at all unanimous in believing that the isolation of the Eskimos is the answer.

* * *

The government's proposed quarantine of the U.S. bases is certain to be unpopular with the servicemen stationed there. For example, Arctic assignment is likely to prove particularly disappointing to any amateur ethnographers in the USAF who might like to study certain curious features of Eskimo society, such as wife-lending.

Officially the authorities here assert that this practice, and polygamy, are now practically non-existent among the Eskimos, but unofficially a blind eye may be turned on Eskimo households which seem to have apparently unmarried sisters-in-law as permanent guests. And, of course, who can stop a neighborly and obliging Eskimo husband from sending a wife on a sled trip with a friend? When a man travels by dog sled he needs a woman to cook, help build his overnight igloos and keep his skin clothing in good condition. She's much more necessary than, say, a woman in Montreal or Victoria.

The rules Canada has laid down prohibit all pleasure or recreational travel by those at the radar bases. The authorities have also warned that they may draw boundary lines around the American stations and forbid the airmen to cross them, and have said they may specifically prohibit the Americans to enter any defined Eskimo areas.

It seems to be a case of "Glad to have you with us, Yanks—but don't stray off your reservation."

(From The Winnipeg Tribune)

THE Queen's Printer's lavish but uncompleted new plant in Hull has already cost Canadian taxpayers a cool $12,000,000. The chances are that by the time presses and other printing equipment have been purchased and installed the cost will be nearly double.

When the presses start to roll in the new plant, the Dominion government will be an even bigger competitor of the privately owned printing and publishing firms in Canada than it is today.

With such a plant at their disposal, officials of government will probably be bursting out in print at the taxpayers' expense even more profusely than they are at present.

What they will print, apart from Hansard and official department reports, is anybody's guess. A glance at a list of selected titles of government publications just released by the Queen's Printer suggests that little of the overhead will be met from sales. Included in the Queen's Printer's list is a 50-cent booklet entitled Climate of Montreal, a $1 Guide to Diagnosis of Occupational Diseases and a $1.25 item entitled Colombo Plan, 1954.

Under the Dome

Colonist Legislative Reporter

BOOKS are still holding their own against Jackie Gleason in British Columbia. According to the provincial Public Library Commission report for 1954, some quarter of a million persons in the province borrowed 4,885,629 books during 1954, an increase of nearly 9 per cent over the previous year.

The increases are reflected in municipal, regional and association library statistics. These figures bear out the results of a recent Cnadian public opinion poll which shows B.C. to be Canada's "readingest" province.

* * *

Take, for example, the municipal public libraries. These are located in eight communities, Comox, Kamloops, Nelson, New Westminster, Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Victoria and West Vancouver. The combined popplations of these communities is 575,000 persons, a little less than half the total of the whole province.

In 1953 these eight libraries had a combined book stock of 465,549, a total of 136,954 registered borrowers and a circulation of 2,916,085. But in 1954 the total book stock was 511,365, total number of borrowers 142,679 and the combined circulation 3,125,315.

The average per capita cost in 1953 was $1.58 for the year but this rose to $1.72 in 1954. Of the 1954 total circulation, 2,219,500 was for Vancouver and 442,268 for Victoria. Total expense for the eight municipal libraries was less than a million dollars.

* * *

B.C.'s three regional libraries, in the Fraser Valley, Okanagan, and Vancouver Island, also showed increases in both registered book borrowers and circulation. The regions hold 262,000 persons, another fifth of the total provincial population.

Total circulation in the three regional libraries jumped from 1,104,918 in 1953 to 1,216,585 in 1954. The increase came with only a slight increase (from 64,349 to 64,686) in the number of registered borrowers. This indicates that the same people took out more books.

The Vancouver Island regional library has its headquarters in Nanaimo. It serves the whole area from the Saanich Inlet north to Campbell River, excluding the Ladysmith school district.

Biggest increase,, however, was in the smallest communities served by some 45 public library associations.

While the municipal and regional libraries serve the greatest number in the province, the associations take care of the book needs of about 125,000 persons in towns with populations ranging from 250 to 20,000.

The total circulation of the associations showed a 22 per cent increase in 1954 over 1953. Total last year was 351,314 compared to 287,933 in 1953. Some of these associations were founded as far back as 1920, like those in Creston, Fernie and Merritt, while others were founded in 1953 and even last year (Tofino and Ucluelet on Vancouver Island).

The trend of increased book borrowing also shows in the open-shelf mail service offered by the commission from its headquarters in Victoria, the North Central branch and the Peace River branch. Circulation was 108,435 in 1954 compared to 106,773 in 1953. This is more than double the circulation in 1944.

Predominant in this field is the distribution of juvenile books, which accounted for nearly half the total. Literature, fine arts, useful arts, travel and description and biography were next in order of popularity.

The only decrease was in travelling libraries whose work was taken up by some of the newly established associations and absorbed by certain additions to school libraries.

Total circulation from the travelling libraries operating out of the three main branch headquarters was 81,980 in 1954 compared to 89,486 the previous year. These travelling libraries served both community and school borrowers.

* * *

The per capita cost of operating a municipal library raises one of those frequent arguments about who shall pay. In the Victoria Public Library, for example, serving Greater Victoria, the per capita cost over the whole 105,000 population is $1.56. Yet the number of registered borrowers is 33,695. If the cost was borne only by the borrowers they would each have to pay about $4.90 for one year's book service.

It becomes one of those questions, as in the case of education, hospital service, social welfare, etc., whether everybody should pay when only a certain portion benefit. If you accept the fact that library service, like formal education, is the responsibility of everyone and for the benefit of everyone who wants to use it, there is no argument.

Discipline

It is one of the basic laws of civilized living that misdemeanors bring punishment in their train, and the sooner a child learns that fact the easier life becomes for him and for everyone else. The strap may not be (certainly is not, in fact) the full and complete answer to all the problems of training, but it has its place as the symbol of authority and discipline, and we should be the worse off if it were to be lost.

Letters to the Editor

Canadian Flag

I must admit it is the finest piece of news I have read in our paper for some time and to crown it all it comes from Ottawa. The good news which all good and true Canadians should welcome is as fololws:

"Canadian Army commands throughout the world have been officially ordered to fly the Red Ensign in preference to the Union Jack."

This is certainly stirring news. The next step now must be as soon as posible to have our very own true Canadian flag. This must be dedicated to our Canadian soldiers who fought, bled, and died for Canada and the rest of the world, and the many who came back maimed.

I recently saw a proposed Canadian flag drawn by Mr. John Bradfield of Toronto. This according to the press has "found favor, and received favorable comment from the House of Commons members, including Prime Minister St. Laurent."

With two exceptions I think this would be the ideal flag for our remembrance of all our boys, but it must be strictly Canadian. In order to make it so may I suggest that Mr. Bradfield leave off the lions in the top left-hand corner and replace it with our Canadian dogwood. Then it would be strictly in order to place the word "Canada" on the top of the white part of the flag over our mapel leaves; then do the same on the left. In this manner we would have a most distinctive flag for our Canada and a lovely memory to our boys who most certainly earned it.

Canada is a nation by herself now and has earned the rights to her very own absolutely distinctive flag.

Parochial Schools

Re Mr. Gibb's speech at a meeting in Sooke: his talk of intolerance and consideration of the minority viewpoint makes me laugh.

Has he forgotten that he voted against the municipal affairs bill whereby the municipalities could take off the tax in whole or in part from parochial schools?

Apparently it has not dawned on him why the past Liberals and Conservatives were thrown out of the provincial government.

If the Social Credit government does not rectify the economic discrimination and ignorance it will not last 10 years; that is if the Liberals wake up.

W. HALSALL.

Slap in the Face

In regard to this slap in the face and the total disregard of her rights that Victoria is receiving by the CPR and Black Ball ferries: is it not about time that our provincial government should take a hand in the matter. And if necessary, take it up as a federal matter.

Is Victoria or is she not the capital city of British Columbie? The corporations and the Chambers of Commerce of both Victoria and Port Angeles are just local organizations for the good of the community they represent. But such an indignity offered to any provincial capital in Canada would never for one instant be tolerated by the provincial legislature.

If certain large business interests are concerned in feathering their own nests by bleeding our capital city white by using Nanaimo as a subterfuge then it is about time our provincial government should take drastic measures in the situation.

HONG KONG (AP)—The official New China news agency reported Friday three "United States spies" dropped by plane have been sentenced to death after confessing attempts to set up armed agents' bases in Hunan. One other alleged agent was given 10 years hard labor after repenting. Nationality of the men was not given.

'Time Bomb' Just Prank, Police Find

NANAIMO—Thirty-six hours after a "time bomb" was discovered in the front seat of the car of J. B. Litch, principal at Nanaimo senior high school, the culprits had been found by the RCMP.

The hoax was the work of two students at the high school. It was discovered on investigating the bomb that it was harmless. The dynamite had been replaced with sawdust and a dud detonator and timing device was used.

So far no charges have been laid either by Mr. Litch or the RCMP, and it is not known if they will do so. The boys have been interviewed by the police.

PORT ALBERNI—A three-day visit to the Albernis will be packed with activity for Miss Mary Pack, executive secretary of Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society B.C. division.

She will address the Kiwanis Club June 7, at a dinner meeting, the following evening will speak at a public meeting in Port Alberni city hall, and the next day will be guest speaker at a Rotary Club luncheon.

Her June 8 program will include an address to girls of Alberni District high school graduating class.

Indians Display Native Dances

PARKSVILLE—Much of the tradition of the native Indian was demonstrated at Parksville community hall by 24 members of the Sheshaht Indian tribe of the Albernis, who performed intricate dance steps to the music of ancient drums and chants of their forefathers.

The group was introduced by Chief Adam Shewish. George Clutesi led the numbers, which were directed by Jimmy Gallic.

Mr. Clutesi explained the origin of each dance and pointed out the difficult task of restoring the ancient arts. Because there are no written histories, songs and dances must be recaptured through the memories of the patriarchs of the tribes.

He said the young people are responding well to plans for perpetuating the arts of their forefathers and are proud of their heritage.

The dances were of various age groups down to tiny tots and their colorful costumes were artistic and traditional. The event was sponsored by Parksville Community Society.

LADYSMITH — School board of District 67, Ladysmith), will present two resolutions for consideration at the annual meeting of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, Vancouver Island branch, to be held June 24 at John Shaw high school, Nanaimo.

Resolutions in brief will ask that:

(1) Members of the teachers' Federation should not be permitted to speak on the floor of conventions on matters during the business sessions of the convention.

(2) Principals should not be members of the federation while they are acting as 'plant managers.'

LADYSMITH—Ladysmith delegates to the upper Island hospitals regional meeting at Nanaimo today include hospital directors Mrs. E. R. Hall, R. D. Bowen and Mrs. Helni Kotilla, representing the administrator; Mrs. A. L. Magnone, Mrs. J. V. Dods, and Mrs. G. J. Robertson, representing the Wowen's Auxiliary.

Special business at 3 p.m. will be the amalgamation of the Victoria and upper Island regionals into one Vancouver Island regional.

Election of officers will follow.

New Cenotaph Site Sought

LADYSMITH—President Jack E. McDonald and Dr. J. W. Neville of Legion branch 171 discussed a new site for the Legion cenotaph with city council Wednesday.

The cenotaph was first moved from Gatacre and First avenue to the Esplanade because it was a traffic hazard. It was later moved to the Comox Logging and Railway Co. landscaped grounds. Now the new level of the Trans-Canada highway has almost obscured the monument, and the Legion feels it is impossible to hold future ceremonies there.

Two possible new sites were discussed: Baden Powell street park, and the high street side of Market Square school grounds.

The delegation was authorized to survey the Market Square site and make recommendation as to best position for the cenotaph.

Hope was expressed that the move could be made for Remembrance Day ceremonies this year.

PORT ALBERNI—Mrs. N. Burgess was returned as president by acclamation at a recent meeting of Gill school PTA.

Other officers are: vice-president, Mrs. Sorenson; treasurer, Mrs. H. Hogeweide; secretary, Mrs. Gene Ruttan; program convener, Mrs. Eric Fix, membership, Mrs. Ed Thomson; social, Mrs. A. Maczulat; sunshine, Mrs. Goth; press and radio, Mrs. Bonnie Jones.

Following election of officers, Mrs. Burgess gave a report on the recent PTA convention.

L. C. Phillips, school principal, explained the various standardized tests given in elementary schools of B.C.

PARKSVILLE—A varied program by local talent formed the entertainment at a successful social evening sponsored by Mount Arrowsmith Legion Branch at the Legion hall. Among performers were Valerie Dare, Jerry Lundine, Elizabeth Cleverly, Barbara Lane, Lois Young, Sheila Humphrey and George Larnder.

Acompanists were Mrs. Larnder and D. W. J. Dare. Musical selections were provided by Tommy Decker, John Naylor and Wally Erickson.

The program was arranged by Joe Ryan and Mrs. Ryan was refreshment convener.

McAllister Rites Held

NANAIMO—Funeral services were held here this week for Charles William McAllister, 76, a well-known Victoria resident for many years who moved to Nanaimo in 1941.

Mr. McAllister came to B.C. at the turn of the century and moved to Victoria in 1905. He founded the Royal Dairy which he operated until he moved to Nanaimo.

He founded the IXL Dairy in Nanaimo and operated it, with his son, up to the time of his death.

During his youth, Mr. McAllister won many trophies as a speed skater and was well-known here as a breeder of blooded horses.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha McAllister, two daughters, Mrs. June Bjune, in Norway, and Miss Shiela Mary McAllister, Victoria; a son, A. D. McAllister; and a sister, Mrs. B. Perry, in Vancouver.

Boy of 14 Jailed For Two Years

NANAIMO—A 14-year-old boy from the Brannan Lake Boys' School was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, in open court here Friday, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft.

The youngser, Bordell Edward Kjeldson, was first charged in juvenile court and was ordered held in the security wing of the reform school until his case was considered. Owing to his conduct at the school he was brought into open court Friday.

He asked to be sent to the pneitentiary, saying: "I'll have a chance to learn a trade there and at least I won't be able to get out."

NO ALTERNATIVE

"I don't like this, I don't like it at all, but there seems to be no alternative," said Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts as he passed sentence.

Probation Officer E. H. B. McGougan also recommended the boy be sent to the penitentiary. He said: "It seems too bad a boy should have to go there, but there seems to be no alternative in this case. The young offenders unit at Oakalla would be bad for him and I don't believe anything would be achieved by sending him there."

The magistrate, who said the penitentiary was a last resort, said to the boy: "I know you are more to be pitied. Obviously you have had very little opportunity to live the way you should or ever have a decent home. The public at large is responsible to a large degree that you were brought up in such a way."

Psychiatric treatment for the lad was recommended by the magistrate.

Kjedson was one of the quartet who broke out of the security section in night attire and stole two cars, leaving one in Nanaimo and the other in the ditch on the Malahat. The car on the Malahat was wantonly damaged.

Fund Nears Target, Hospital Start Sought

LADYSMITH—General hospital directors authorized administrator Donald McKinnon Monday to ask BCHIS for permission to go ahead with "final" detailed plans for Ladysmith's proposed new hospital, now that the hospital foundation has more than $75,000 in cash toward the $100,000 objective.

Dr. J. W. Neville, president of Ladysmith District Hospital Foundation, gave details of the fund now nearing $90,000 in cash and pledges. He forecast reaching the $100,000 objective by July. This amount is one-third of the $300,000 total set as estimated cost of a new hospital, with federal and provincial governments providing the balance.

H. Whittaker, of Whittaker and Wagg, architects, Victoria, conferred with the board's planning committee this week regarding final sketch plans.

W. J. Lyle, finance manager for BCHIS, said there would be a meeting to discuss the whole budget situation. The board is seeking an interview with BCHIS to consider ways and means of meeting the more than $7,000 operating deficit in 1954, which the board claims is due to BCHIS cutting the "carefully prepared" budget by just about that amount.

The foundation meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the Legion hall.

Ticket Sales Heavy

PORT ALBERNI—Early returns in the currept 1955-1956 membership campaign of the Alberni Valley Civic Music Association include memberships from all over the district, M. E. B. McVicar, president of the association announced. Another sold-out house is anticipated, he said.

The campaign was officially launched at a dinner for all workers Tuesday at the Greenwood Hotel. Dorothy Van Andel, civic concert service representative, outlined instructions for the campaign.

The drive will continue through Saturday when no further membership will be accepted. Talent for next year's series will again be selected on the basis of membership votes as to type of talent preferred as well as total campaign return. Only artists of international reputation will be engaged.

Admission to all concerts will be by membership card only; no tickets to individual performances will be sold. Memberships are available either through volunteer canvassers or directly at headquarters.

Broke Heir Goes to Jail

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—John Allan Clarke, 18, of Victoria, who is reported to have spent a $1,500 legacy in six weeks, was sentenced Friday to a term in Oakalla.

He pleaded guilty to breach of probation and was sentenced to four months definite and two months indefinite in the young offenders unit at Oakalla.

Clarke was placed on probation in April after facing a vagrancy charge here.

Commands New Ship

CAPT. GEORGE A. THOMSON

In command of CPR's new British Columbia Coast Steamships vessel, Princess of Vancouver, which reached Panama canal this week on its way to Esquimalt from Glasgow, is Capt. George A. Thomson of Sidney, B.C. Vessel is expected here June 7 or 8 and will go into service between Nanaimo and Vancouver after painting and engine inspection.

Ladysmith Council Meets

Sidewalk Ends Up in Air, But Remedy Promised

LADYSMITH — Department of highways has told council the concrete sidewalks situation at White and Esplanade will be remedied.

New Trans-Canada route along Esplanade, which has lowered former levels, was particularly acute at White street, where sidewalk ends were left high in the air.

Permission was granted to the Lions-Kinsmen July 1 celebrations committee to hold festivities at Ladysmith.

Looking ahead to the UBCM convention at Prince George in October, City Clerk R. S. Wood was instructed to make reservations for two delegates.

Compliments on the job done by a works crew constructing an extensive concrete wall to complete the Market Square junior ball field, followed a report of works foreman John Thompson. Extensive rock fill will be topped by soil and screened gravel. The job has cost roughly $3,200 so far.

After next week's work, the Lions club will take over, with the city ready to lend assistance.

Ald. P. R. Battie said Ald. Dr. A. T. Verchere's idea of breaking the north-east corner wall into two levels had worked out very well. It eliminated a sheer drop of some 16 feet. A request has already been received for permission to plant this corner plot to flowers.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Just before sailing for England, defeated Don Cockell stated that he felt he could beat world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano "next week" if he was given another chance. In view of what happened at San Francisco last week that statement ranks with the most optimistic of all time.

Just a bit tired of the charges of dirty fighting against Marciano and curious to see for myself, I had a look at the fight movies, currently being shown at the Odeon Theatre. I came away with three convictions—

(1) That the movies of a fight give a far better picture than television, where camera angles make it difficult, if not impossible, to judge action;

(2) That Cockell looks no part of an athlete and should have been thankful that he actually got a chance to meet the champion instead of lending himself to the post-fight propaganda;

(3) That Marciano didn't have one of his better fights and that while he is undefeated in 48 bouts, he can never be rated with the all-time ring greats.

Cockell, and he has my understanding and sympathy, is the type inclined to run to fat. Despite rigorous training, he still looked soft and flabby alongside the rock-ribbed Marciano, who hasn't a waste ounce. Despite his 208 pounds, Cockell didn't show anything in the way of a knockout punch and never looked like a possible winner although there wasn't too much difference in points after four rounds.

Marciano, who hadn't fought since September, may or may not be going back a bit. It was obvious that his timing was bad. Cockell was an open target time and again but Marciano's punches weren't landing with their old authority or with too much accuracy. The old fact remains that the fellow who finally stops his winning streak will have to be someone who can punch—and harder than Cockell.

As to those allegations that Marciano fought a dirty fight, it would seem that they are somewhat exaggerated, particularly in view of the fact that this one was a mismatch and Cockell's glory came solely from the fact he surprised by lasting to the ninth round.

Marciano did clout his opponent three or four times after the bell, which sounded clearly in the movie version, in the sixth round and it has to be a matter of opinion whether or not he heard the bell. And the champion did aim and deliver a blow with Cockell down on one knee. The slow-motion sequence makes this appear quite deliberate but the impression is not nearly so marked at normal speed. The elbowing was overemphasized and there appeared to be no evidence of deliberate use of this joint. Marciano is a leather-thrower who keeps piling in when he misses a punch and brings shoulder and arm up as a defensive manoeuvre.

More apparent was the impression that the referee should have stopped the slaughter in the eighth round. The fight was obviously over and it was needless to force Cockell to take further punishment. And that's what will happen if they ever can work up enough interest to get a rematch. Lasting three or four rounds longer than most expected in a first meeting isn't enough in the way of credentials for a second fight.

Random Harvest

Fred Hutchinson, general manager of the Victoria Cougars, is en route to Montreal on a combination holiday and business trip. The business will likely take place in Montreal with the Cougars anxious to know if they can count on Billy Reay as coach for next season or if Canadiens have him in mind as successor to Dick Irvin. Hutchinson will also look into the chances of player help before moving on to his old stamping grounds in Minneapolis for the holiday part of the trip . . . Ted Johnson, who started his riding career with Ken "Doc" Darbyshire at the Willows, was leading jockey at Lincoln Downs for the third straight year. Johnson, who is married to the former Marian Lovatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lovatt of Milton street, will likely ride E. P. Taylor's Bright Flash in the Queen's Plate on June 11 and will be trying to win his third Canadian riding title. He won in 1953 by booting 117 mounts into the winner's circle and repeated last year with 109 of his horses taking win money . . . Don Lundberg, former catcher of the Victoria Tyees, has been released by the Portland club. He lost out when the Beavers obtained Al Robertson to spell Sam Calderone behind the plate . . . and speaking of the Tyees again brings the thought that this spring's weather would really have caused attendance problems had they still been playing in the WIL . . . Spokane is not expected to become a member of the Western Hockey League for next season but there could be a last-minute change if the Western International Hockey League should lose a member city or two. Things aren't too bright in Kimberley, for instance, and Nelson reportedly lost a substantial sum this past season . . . In the WHL, the 1955-56 season will bring quite a player problem. If Seattle returns, the league will have three clubs—the others are Regina and Winnipeg—needing practically a full complement of players. In addition, New Westminster has to rebuild and Saskatoon's shaky Quakers also need an overhauling . . . the new Winnipeg entry, which will concentrate on Manitoba-born players as much as possible, is hoping to get former Cougar Ed Mazur and Paul Masnick from Canadiens as a start in building a club . . .

Sportsmen's Show Arrangements Take Shape

Arrangements which will bring Victoria its first top-flight sportsmen's show were under discussion at Memorial Arena yesterday when Alan Nelthorpe, left, representing Roy Lisogar, managing director of the Western Canadian Sportsmen's Show; arena manager Joe Dukowski, centre, conferred with Seth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist. The show, which is now making its second successful appearance in Calgary, will be in Vancouver June 3 to 11, will be sponsored by the Colonist during its Memorial Arena appearance, June 14 to 18.

New York Giants snapped a four-game losing streak and moved a step closer to second place Friday night by knocking off the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers 3-1 after Milwaukee Braves had cooled off the runner-up Chicago Cubs 7-5 in an afternoon contest.

A record-tying pinch homer by Bobby Hofman and an opposite field homer by Willie Mays socked it away for the Giants as Sal Maglie, who calls the Dodgers "cousins," wrapped up his fifth straight victory.

In the other two NL games, the revived Philadelphia Phillies won their fifth straight with a 5-2, 10-inning victory at Pittsburgh and St. Louis Cardinals regained fifth place from Cincinnati by whipping the Redlegs 7-4.

New York Yankees extended their American League lead to three games by continuing their rout of the second division clubs with a 6-2 victory over Baltimore Orioles. Second-place Cleveland was rained out at Kansas City. Detroit moved to within a half game of third-place Chicago by blanking the White Sox 1-0 on Billy Hoeft's six-hitter.

At Boston, the Red Sox had no need to Ted Williams—only returned to the active list hours earlier—as they walloped Washington Senators 16-0 with rookie Norb Zauchin batting in 10 runs.

SET BACK ERSKINE

Hofman's homer started Carl Erskine to his second defeat, tying the score at 1-1 in the seventh, and Mays finished off the Brooklyn righthander with his homer with one man on in the eighth.

Maglie, beaten twice earlier by the Dodgers this season, settled down after the first inning to register his 23rd lifetime triumph in 33 decisions with Brooklyn.

At Chicago, Gene Conley needed relief after seven innings, but claimed his seventh victory against one defeat by stopping the Cubs. Chicago had won seven of their previous eight games and had the bases loaded when Bob Buhl fanned Ted Tappe for the final out. Billy Bruton and Johnny Logan homered for the Braves while Bob Speake and Dee Fondy hit home runs for the Cubs. Sam (no-hit) Jones was the loser.

The Yankees scored four runs in the first inning, three on a homer by Eddie Robinson, as Whitey Ford registered his sixth victory.

Convicts Steal Home

BEECH BOTTOM, W. Va. (AP)—The two top hitters on the West Virginia penitentiary baseball team escaped Thursday while waiting their turn to bat in pro-game practice.

Warden Orel J. Skeen said the two, Charles Hooks, 35, and Herbert Sewel, 32, fled while the prison team lounged around the bus, awaiting turns at batting practice.

Hooks, serving time for breaking and entering, is the centre-fielder for the prison's Red Sox. Sewel, serving a 20-year term for robbery, had held down first base.

Prison guards found the pair's baseball uniforms a short distance from the bus.

Last night's score: Fletchers 4, Students 0.

Next games, Sunday: 1.30 and 3.15, doubleheader between Arrow Furniture and Victoria City at Central park.

Cec Fletchers grabbed a share of first place and enjoyed a little revenge in senior "A" men's softball league action at Central park last night as they blanked Chinese Students, 4-0.

Away to a slow start in this year's campaign, the current provincial champions climbed into a tie with Arrow Furniture, four points in front of third-place Victoria City.

Still smarting from the humiliating 20-8 pasting handed out by the Students in their last meeting, Fletchers got out in front in a hurry, scoring three runs in the first inning before the Students had settled down. A pair of infield errors and four bases on balls issued by pitcher Ellis Achtem helped the Clothiers to their 3-0 lead.

Barry Jackson continued his fine mound work for the winners, picking up his fourth successive victory with a neat four-hit performance. Jackson, who collected his second straight shutout, struck out 12 men and walked three in a route-going effort.

Achtem, who blanked Fletchers after the second inning, was reached for only three hits, but his early lack of control and his club's failure to solve Jackson's slants proved his downfall.

Arrows get a chance to step out in front again when they tangle with Victoria City in a doubleheader at Central park Sunday. Game times are 1.30 and 3.15.

Last night's score: Jaycees 6, Oak Bay Police 3.

Hard-hitting Everett Sandberg, who normally holds down first base for McCall-Davey, got his first Babe Ruth League pitching assignment at Macdonald park last night and served up a neat one-hitter as the Druggists downed Menzies Fuel, 5-2.

Sandberg had a bit of trouble with his control as he issued seven bases on balls but more than balanced the ledger as he set nine batters down on strikes. Brent Siddon, who went the distance for the Fuelmen, also had control difficulties, walking 10 while striking out a like number.

Sandberg, who continued his distance clouting as he chased Ricky Blake home from first base with a sixth-inning triple, lost his bid for a no-hitter in the fourth when John Chesman connected for a solid single to centre field.

JAYCEES WIN

In Pony League action at Carnarvon park last night, Jaycees climbed into a third-place deadlock with Rotary as they downed Oak Bay Police, 6-3.

Mike Heal pitched the distance for the winners, scattering eight hits and walking only one batter. David Rees and Bill Tonkin shared mound duties for the Police and held the Jaycees to three hits, but Rees yielded six bases on balls and Tonkin, who came on in the third, walked five batters.

Last night's score: Rotary 7, Gyros 6.

Rotary, building up a 6-0 lead through the first four innings, were forced to the limit before scraping through to a 7-6 decision over league-leading Gyros in Little League baseball action at Little League park last night.

Victory moved Rotary into a second-place tie with defending champion North Kiwanis and tightened up the standings, with only one game separating the four clubs.

Rotary scored what proved to be the winning run in the top of the sixth inning when Dave Rivers drove in Dick Munn with a single. Gyros, held hitless by John Harrison in the first four innings, got back to within one run at 6-5 with a five-run outburst in the fifth when they picked up four of their five hits and took advantage of two walks.

Gyros almost pulled it out in the bottom of the sixth when Gary Simpson reached first on an error and Harrison walked the next three batters. However, he tightened up and struck out Larry Whitman and Doug Boden to leave the tying and winning runs on base.

Munn picked up two doubles and a single and Bob Martin smashed three singles for the winners.

Last night's score: VICTORIA 8 at Indians 9.
Next game, tonight: New Westminster at Nanaimo.

Shamrocks, who went into first place for the first time this season Wednesday night with a victory over Nanaimo, missed a chance to extend their Inter-City Lacrosse league lead last night when they dropped a 9-8 decision to Mount Pleasant Indians.

Trailing by four goals with less than 10 minutes remaining in the final quarter, the defending champion Shamrocks almost pulled out a victory and but for some brilliant saves by goalie Stan Joseph might have come out of the thriller with two points.

Shamrocks still hold a one-point lead, but the standings tightened up considerably with Nanaimo, Vancouver and Indians sharing the runner-up position and New Westminster in last place two points off the pace. However, Salmonbellies could tie the Shamrocks with a victory at Nanaimo tonight.

Abandoning their usual careful style of play, Indians started at a fast pace and built up a 5-2 lead in the first quarter. From there, Jake Proctor's squad set up a stiff defence in front of Joseph, who turned in a solid effort in blocking 25 shots.

The clubs split two goals in the second quarter and Indians carried an 8-5 lead into the final session, in which the Shamrocks outscored their opponents, 3-1. Al Carey, a junior player seeing his first action with Indians, put the winners into a 9-5 lead early in the fourth quarter.

Whitey Severson scored two goals within seven seconds while Indians were shorthanded, and Jack Bionda made it 9-8 with a long bouncer at 13.55. Joseph stopped a hard drive by Bionda seconds later and made a great save on a shot by Pee Wee Bradshaw in the last 30 seconds, to stop the Shamrock rally.

Marino Cervi led the Indians with three goals, and Mario Crema and Ken Jones each scored twice. Bionda, last year's scoring champion who has two or more goals in each of the Shamrocks' six games, took over the scoring lead with two goals and has added three assists for a one-point lead over Nanaimo's John Lumley.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Inter-city Lacrosse League commission Friday night slapped a five-game suspension on Pliseners' Bob Marsh for his part in a ruckus with spectators at a game in New Westminster Thursday night specifically, throwing his stick "in the general direction of" referee Sid Greenwood.

The commission also issued a severe reprimand to three of Marsh's teammates.

The suspension, one of the stiffest of recent years in the inter-city loop, was announced following a special meeting Friday.

Jack Marsh, Elmer Matthews and Sam Sakich will be warned by letter that their action of leaving the players' bench to go after heckling fans was "strictly to the detriment . . . of the game."

Northern Sportsmen Rap Game Biologists

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — A resolution calling on the game commission to pay more heed to requests from sportsmen and suggestions from game wardens started a verbal skirmish at the B.C. game convention here Thursday.

J. C. Shelford of Burns Lake charged the commission with "ignoring requests of sportsmen and wardens." He referred to the north having asked for a one-buck season and having got two like the rest of the province.

The area's sportsmen claim wolves and coyotes have reduced the deer herds, not lack of food, and that a lower bag limit would allow the deer to increase.

"We feel the biologists' branch had not made a sufficient study of the area to recommend anything," Shelford said.

In a further criticism of the biologists, he said half the material in their papers delivered at the convention "is just propaganda to try to persuade the delegates to follow in line with their way of thinking, right or wrong."

Dr. James Hatter, chief game biologist, termed the statements "unduly critical" and countered with figures indicating the two-buck limit had no bad effects. Of 70 hunters interviewed at Smithers, only one had bagged two bucks.

Eric Collier of Meldrum Lake, whose paper on moose had impressed delegates earlier in the day, raised a plea on behalf of the north's stand.

"It is impossible to blanket the province with a regulation," he declared. The Chilcotin, Peace and Burns Lake must be dealt with separately, he said, adding a word about the convention having evolved from small groups of sportsmen standing up for what they believed to be best for conservation.

Sports Parade

BY OSCAR FRALEY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) – The Indianapolis 500 is the world series of automobile racing, the big one in which all the leadfoots from the little tracks dream about driving, and you might think that the man finally getting his chance would have butterflies in his [illegible].

It is a man-killer, literally and figuratively. Many a man has died on the brick and asphalt oval where they play their mad game against time and, you imagine, the first crack at it would set a rookie's nerves to screaming.

But not Johnny Boyd's.

Johnny, a handsome young man of 28 out of Fresno, Calif., is one of eight first-time drivers who will be tensed over the wheel when the field of 33 cars receives the heart-stopping order of "gentlemen, start your motors," on Memorial Day Monday.

And Johnny faces it calmly – and philosophically.

"I have been a race driver for nine years," he explains with a sober light in his brown eyes. "Don't think I'm cocky but I have to believe that I'm a good driver, as good as any of them, or I wouldn't be worth my salt."

The "butterfiles" were there when he came hopefully into Indianapolis to make his qualifying attempt. As Johnny sees it, he just had to get by "or I couldn't have gone back home."

So he took his Sumar Special out there on that sprawling race track, dyed with the blood and pitted by the rended metal of other hopefuls, and looked disaster squarely in the eye.

He spun out of his first qualifying attempt, bouncing into the wall on the backstretch at 129 miles an hour.

"I was lucky," he admits simply.

The car didn't sustain a scratch. Neither did Johnny.

So after his pit crew looked over the machine, he was out there again, flying over the track at high speed. This time he qualified.

He is, he'll concede, "superstitious as the dickens." They all are in this business. So when he drives, Johnny has in his pocket a rosary which he has carried since he was seven years old. It was in his pocket when he flipped three different times in three different cars. All of them were cars with the number "eight" emblazoned on their cowling. No longer will Johnny drive a car with the number eight.

* * *

Here is a young man who has dug ditches, been an apprentice plumber and serviced tractors, with time out to be an air cadet in the Second World War. His pretty wife flies in today to watch him make his bid for gold and glory, leaving their two young children back in California.

But despite his family obligations and the fact that this is his first start at Indianapolis, Johnny isn't worried.

"You get more of a thrill," he asserts, "driving on those half-mile banked tracks. They'll really give you a charge."

So facing his great opportunity against the finest drivers in the world leaves Johnny Boyd undismayed. Not completely, though.

"I guess I am worried," he admits, "about where I'll finish – and how much money I'll make."

That's the breed of the darling.

Leading driver at Western Speedway last year and away to a good start in this season's competition, Dave Cooper of Victoria will be out to avenge his main-event setback at the hands of Ladysmith's Digger O'Dell in a stock car meet tonight at the Millstream Road track. O'Dell edged out Cooper in the main event last Monday after the Victoria driver had won the feature in the opening card of the season.

British Ideal of Sporting Thing Takes Beating at Frisco, Madrid

BY ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP) — Britain's concept of sport has just endured a succession of jolts from San Francisco to Madrid.

Don Cockell has barely become disengaged from the brutal boxing attentions of world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, regarded here as the ranking expert on how to ignore Marquess of Queensberry rules, when the England soccer team took another on the chin in Spain.

It followed a controversial game against France in Paris, and preceded Scotland's incident-marked match against Austria in Vienna. British reaction was warm.

AGE OF BLACKJACKS

"This is the cosh (blackjack) age in sport," thundered The Daily Sketch. Even The Times was moved to remark that "there are two conceptions in the world of how football should be played. It is becoming two different games."

On the other hand, there was the letter to the editors which said: "The seemingly eternal whine that the other fellow did not play fair goes far to annul any credit won."

In Paris, England lost 1-0—and deserved to do so, it was generally agreed—but what seemed obvious fouls to English eyes were ignored.

In Spain, where 125,000 eager Spaniards sat under a broiling sun, reports indicate that a good Spanish team was aided considerably by an Italian referee who failed to detect flagrant obstruction tactics.

TORE OFF SHIRT

English centreforward Nat Lofthouse was downed in a breakaway when a Spanish player grabbed his arm, and finally tore his shirt off. English reporters said. A 1-1 draw resulted.

Spanish players, who got £100 per international match compared with £50 for English stars, had their salaries doubled at half-time to £200.

Veteran Stanley Matthews, the 40-year-old winger who is still regarded as the best in the world, said he had "never played in such a filthy match."

There have been suggestions that England withdraw from tours until host countries guarantee to conform with international rules, but no such drastic step is anticipated.

VIGOROUS PUPILS

"You keep telling us you are the pupils and we are the masters," said official Harold Shentall after the game, "but we don't want to take the credit for some of the things you showed us."

At Vienna, where Scotland won 4-1 for its first victory over Austria in 27 years, spectators invaded the field to attack Scottish captain Gordon Smith, and 100 police saved the day. That topped a series of rugged tackles, kicks and blows and one Australian player was ordered off the field.

It smacked to the extent of the worst game on record—that between Brazil and Hungary in last year's World Cup.

Lawrie Reilly, Scottish forward who felled one Austrian spectator in a "collision," said that apart from the result "it was the happiest moment in the match."

CAHA Will Send Club If Someone Pays Bill

REGINA (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will enter a team in next winter's Olympic tournament in Italy only if some private concern or the general public pays the bill.

Delegates to the CAHA's annual meeting were told Thursday solutions to the stringent amateur qualifications and financing problems probably will be found within the next six months. But unless Olympic organizers attempted to harmonize their regulations with the Canadian standard, the basic situation probably would remain unsolved.

The Canadian hockey player who hasn't accepted at least some small token for his services was described as a rarity. The CAHA indicated doubt it can raise from the 70 or 80 players on three Olympic-bidding teams the 17 players who could qualify.

George Dudley of Midland, Ont., CAHA secretary-manager, said as the five-day annual meeting ended the association "would find considerable clamor in Canada" if it decided against sending a team overseas, yet there remains "the hypocrisy" of amateur standards.

Olympic officials were clinging to their "hide - bound Victorian ideas" of amateurism and had forgotten "the realities of sport."

Financial help, he said, may come from a national non-commercial organization which would have "no trouble whatever" raising the necessary $25,000-plus to sponsor the team for advertising benefits.

As an alternative, the CAHA could appeal to fans to pay something extra at the gate toward financing the trip.

The entire Olympic question has been left to the CAHA executive.

Farmers Seek Fourth Win This Afternoon

Next games today: Farmers vs. Duncan, 2.30; Eagles vs. Capitals, 7, Royal Athletic Park.

Farmer Construction will be seeking its fourth straight victory in the Lower Island Senior Amateur Baseball League today when it meets Duncan in the first of two games scheduled at Royal Athletic Park.

The Farmers-Duncan clash will get under way at 2:30 p.m. with Capitals tangling with Eagles in the other game at 7 p.m.

Duncan moved into second place and evened its record at 1-1 on Thursday night by edging Capitals, 9-8, in an error-studded contest called after eight innings because of darkness. The clubs committed a total of 15 errors with Duncan gaining its win on the strength of a three-run outburst in the top of the eighth inning.

I GET 32 MILES A GALLON, WHY CAN'T YOU?

SPECIAL NOTICE
This story is completely true. This car exists — in Milford, Pa. The owner of this car is not a handy-man — he had never touched the engine of his car before September 18, 1953.
And yet, in one working day, this man got 14 miles MORE per gallon from his car. He increased the horsepower of his car by 20%. He tripled the number of miles he could drive without changing his oil.
And he did this without buying one single piece of equipment — without making one major change anywhere on that car! Just as YOU CAN DO IT, TOO! Yes, you can practically DOUBLE the horsepower of your car, and still save $50 to $100 on gas and repair bills this winter alone! How? It's as EASY as this!

BY WALTER ASTON

Let me start this way. I own a 1952 Chevie. I'm the original owner. I've driven the car 27,000 miles and until six months ago I'd been getting 16 miles a gallon from my car on the open road. Today, I get 32 miles a gallon! Six months ago it took me 20 seconds to accelerate from zero to 60 miles an hour. Today, I make it in 15 seconds flat. I leave other Chevies a half-block behind at the lights.

And they wouldn't believe that I'm using less gas than they are! Now, I'm no mechanic. Until six months ago, I never really touched the engine of my car. I bought no expensive tools. I made no major mechanical changes. I didn't spend one red penny for "gimmicks" or "gas savers" of any kind. The only difference between my car today—and the performance that you can get out of your car one day or one week from now—lies in a few simple, scientific facts. I learned these facts from some of the country's top automotive engineers. I'd like to give them to you — right now!

This Is What Automotive Engineers Discovered About Your Car!

1. These engineers learned that the average driver probably WASTES 2 to 2½ gallons of gas out of every 10 simply because he doesn't know how to save a glassful of gasoline each time he starts his engine . . . doesn't know how to avoid second gear and beat stop-and-go gas wastage . . . doesn't know how to get still faster pickup and still save 3 to 5 miles MORE per gallon. That if he could learn these few simple tricks, he could automatically increase his mileage by 3-5-7 miles without touching a single tool — without even lifting his hood.

2. These experts learned that an additional 2 to 3 gallons out of every 10 are wasted in your engine . . . that they're never exploded—that their power goes into your exhaust instead of your wheels, mainly because of UNNECESSARY engine friction and power leaks! That if you learned one simple 30-second trick, you could reduce that waste friction without even touching a tool! If you learned one more simple 60-second trick, you could seal that waste-power inside your engine, and automatically increase your effective horsepower — automatically increase your mileage by an additional 3 to 5 miles a gallon! And you would end up with as much as 8-12 and even 14 extra miles more a gallon!

3. And at the same time — because you were getting more punch from your engine — you would automatically get faster pickup . . . greater acceleration . . . more jump every time you touched the pedal. You would help prevent major repairs—because you would automatically have less wear, less strain, more power from the same engine. You would be able to drive an automobile that gives you new-car performance . . . new-car economy . . . new-car dependability for as much as 75,000 to 90,000 miles!

Save Up To 30% On Your Car Bills This Year Alone!

But this is just the beginning! Suppose that you could have these very same experts—these Indianapolis mechanics . . . Detroit engineers . . . and United States Government scientists — RIGHT AT YOUR ELBOW 24 hours a day!

Suppose that these experts showed you a simple 2-minute adjustment to your spark plugs that added as much as 2 to 3 miles a gallon MORE to your car . . . plus an easy trick with your tires, that added as much as 4 miles a gallon MORE to your car . . . plus a way that you could switch one single wire in your engine and save up to 50 gallons on your winter driving!

Suppose these experts gave you the trick of automatically cleaning the waste, sludge, carbon out of your engine, and adding as much as 3 years to the life of your car . . . plus the secret of adding as much as 10,000 miles to your tires without even picking up a tool . . . plus wonderful 2-minute tips on what to do when your battery or engine or radiator failed . . . so you could start that "dead" battery without a push or tow . . . so you could prevent that radiator from overheating in the worst traffic . . . so you could start that engine in less than one minute, in below freezing weather.

NOW! Six Great Illustrated Car Books Rolled Into One!

This is exactly what a brand new book, HOW TO DOUBLE THE PERFORMANCE OF YOUR CAR, does for you. This book is guaranteed to save you up to 70% of your present oil bills . . . up to 80% of your present repair bills . . . to add as much as $250 to the resale value of your car.

Get Up To 14 Miles More Per Gallon From Your Car!

Here in the very first reading of this book, are dozens of gas-saving tricks that can save you $100 to $150 in gas bills—this year alone! This book even shows you a simple, 50-second way to get premium no-knock performance, lightning acceleration, zoom-power on hills from regular standard gas!

Here's how to get an extra 20% . . . 25% . . . 30% more power from your car without spending a penny . . . power to zoom away from other cars at the lights . . . to add 5-10 miles an hour to your top speed . . . to drive up to 5,000 miles safely — without changing your oil! Here's how to get 25,000 more miles from your tires without touching a tool . . . how to stop steering wheel "play" . . . how to prevent your windshield from fogging up during the winter . . . how to fix a stuck horn . . . how to instantly get out of snow or sand without a tow!

Add Up To $250 To Resale Value Of Your Car!

Here's the easy, quick way to make dents and scratches disappear for good—remove rust from chrome, keep it sparkling bright for years. How to make your own car-bed—"customize" your car . . . re-style your grill . . . make your own "Continental Rear Tire" for less than $10 . . . how to lower your car . . . how to "soup up" your car for more power and mileage.

Save Up To $100 In Repair Bills This Season Alone!

Here is a Complete Fix-It-Yourself Section that SHOWS how to prevent costly breakdowns—before they happen! How to prevent carbon and valve jobs—major clutch replacements — carburetor, brake and starting failures. Simple step-by-step picture directions show you how to adjust brakes yourself and save $5! Repair a clutch yourself and save $13. Add new life to your battery and save as much as $18! Fix a leaky radiator and save $20!

Here's exactly what to do when your engine won't start — when your engine misses — if your engine stalls—if you use to much oil—if your engine idles rough—for black exhaust smoke—poor acceleration — over-heating — pings — knocks — shimmies — and dozens more!

Here's a quick, 3-minute way to free sticking valves, without touching a tool! 20-second way to prevent oil waste. How to get faster warm-ups in winter . . . an emergency road flare that doesn't cost a penny . . . how to make anti-freeze last for two or more seasons. How to tell whether or not you really need a ring job, and perhaps save up to $250 on your car. Car repair books have sold separately for as high as $5 apiece! Message from the Minister

Breaking Chains For Higher Bonds

(This is the sixth in a series of messages from Greater Victoria clergy that will appear each week in the Daily Colonist's church page.)

BY REV. E. LAURA BUTLER

Assistant Minister, Metropolitan United Church

Freedom comes with a price. You can only gain your freedom by breaking your chains and binding yourself to larger loyalties.

REV. E. LAURA BUTLER

This truth jumped at me from the pages of Petrarch the other evening as I was reading a dialogue that took place between him and Augustine. Augustine greatly dreaded that the glittering brilliance of the chains that bound Petrarch would dazzle his eyes and hinder him and make him feel like the miser bound in prison with fetters of gold, who wished greatly to be set free but was not willing to break his chains.

How many glittering chains there are in our contemporary civilization that would enslave us in our search for freedom and truth. Paul realized this fact in his own life when he found he must lay aside those things which separated him from the love of God an "press on to the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

In Paul's own experience he had discovered that one must be disciplined for freedom. That man is free to serve and free to create who has achieved a discipline of mind and will and spirit of the body.

The great surgeon walks confidently and expectantly into the operating room because of the previous disciplines attained in his training, and he is free to proceed with the scalpel because of the discipline of his knowledge and skill. It is true in every area of life, whether it be in the field of music, art, industry or religion. Chains must be broken and life brought under the great disciplines of mind and spirit.

What are some of these glittering chains that restrict our freedom and keep us from our best? One is the chain of public opinion, what people think. This is all very well as a criterion of social behavior, but if there is no moral value above and beyond "what people think," how trite and useless.

When our behavior is governed by an impelling conviction, life takes on a meaning and a lustre all its own. For example, I do not kill my enemy, not because of what the law would do to me, but because I reverence all life and I place that gift of life over and above my own petty feelings.

I am motivated by a conviction of the sacredness of life, its meaningfulness and its power. From such a conception of life I am led onward to the great power of love in life and the positive command of Jesus to love and to forgive.

Other glittering chains that bind us are wrong attitudes such as false opinions. The climax of all evils is when a man rooted in some false opinion, by degrees grows fatally persuaded that a certain course is right.

Pacifism changes to the inevitability of war. Political participation sucumbs to a listless indifference — "What's the use?" "How can I help?" "Everybody else does this, why not I?" "Why should I continue to be a sucker? I'm just going to look after myself and my own needs. . ."

Here come the shackles of self and disillusionment when we allow our standards to be accommodated to the world in which we live and they lose their sparkling clearness.

Are there absolutes in truth? Is truth itself one and always the same? Then in our quest for life's purpose, we should discover some tireless assertions of truth that are eternally applicable.

Freedom comes with a price. We break the glittering chains that enslave only to be bound by the great disciplines of body, mind and spirit that free us to serve creatively and carry out the sovereign laws of God.

Prayer Book Ready Soon

TORONTO (CP)—A draft of a revised Anglican prayer book is to be submitted to the 19th session of general synod of the Church of England in Canada this summer, the church announced yesterday.

It said the committee has been working on the revision since 1943.

Church Looks At Ordination

TORONTO (CP)—The ordination of women as ministers will be the major topic on the agenda as 300 Canadian representatives meet at the 81st general assembly of the Presbyterian Church here June 1.

The assembly will elect a new moderator to succeed Rev. J. L. W. Maclean of Victoria.

Long-Time Missionary

Last Rites Today For Canon Stocken

Last rites will be held in St. John's Church today for Rev. Canon Harry William Gibbon Stocken, long-time missionary among the Blackfoot Indians, who died here Wednesday at the age of 96.

Born in London in 1858, Canon Stocken arrived in Canada at the age of 26 and was immediately sent to the Blackfoot reserve near Gleichen, Alberta.

The Indians named him "Running Wolf."

He learned the Blackfoot language, devised a syllabic script and started translating the scriptures.

Canon Stocken returned to England but later returned and for eight years preached among the Sarcee tribe. He visited Japan, then returned to his beloved Blackfoot Indians.

At the age of 63, Canon Stocken came to Victoria to retire. Almost immediately he became vicar of St.-Martin's-in-the-Fields and was largely responsible for the construction of the new church.

He returned to visit the Blackfoot tribe several times, and made his first flight in an airplane at the age of 90, his fare paid by the tribe.

Surviving are three daughters, Alice and Dora Stocken, 729 Lampson, and Mrs. H. Symonds, Kamloops.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday, followed by cremation. The ashes are to be sent to the Blackfoot reservation.

The family has asked that no flowers by sent to the funeral but that any memorial domations be made to the St. Martin's-in-the-Fields building fund.

Quaker Hopes Native Japan Stays Neutral

Japanese Quaker Paul M. Sekiya hopes Japan will remain neutral and unarmed, and become "a symbol and example for all nations" in denouncing policies of war.

He told a meeting at St. John's parish hall Thursday night that the Japanese constitution, writen for a defeated nation by its conquerors, banned "forever" the building or maintenance of instruments of war. Today Japan has an army, a navy and an air force, he said, because of U.S. pressure resulting from "the fear of Communism."

Mr. Sekiya, who calls himself a "democrat and a liberal," said he did not believe the Japanese people would "forget their country's last mistake so soon" and vote for rearmament.

A theology graduate from Oxford, Mr. Sekiya was a minister of the Protestant Episcopal church of Japan before the war and fought with Japanese trops during the Second World War. He met U.S. and British Quakers in Shanghai in 1946, and joined the society in 1948.

He is touring North America under the sponsorship of the American Quakers.

"The Inner Splendor of Consciousness" will be the subject of an address at 8 p.m. Sunday by Harry Lorimer, Hermes Lodge, Vancouver, sponsored by the Theosophical Society at 904 Government.

Eat Your Troubles Away

Your Nerves Work Best If Fed Right

BY LELORD KORDEL

Seven out of ten of the people who file into doctors' offices with palpitations, extraneous and light beats of the heart, speeding pulse, or indigestion are told by their physicians, "It's your nerves."

[illegible]

Linda R.'s nerves broke down under physical strain. Not being a pretty girl, Linda constantly dieted to keep a figure slender enough to match the emaciated models of fashion magazines. Linda never bothered to learn how she could diet and preserve her health at the same time. Shortly after having married the man of her dreams, she suffered a nervous breakdown.

[illegible] 20 per cent [illegible]

Linda R.'s starved nerve [illegible] foods that would nourish [illegible]. Protein, for instance, [illegible] meat, [illegible] learned that meat was fattening.

The high-protein foods [illegible] meat, eggs, millet and [illegible] seeds also [illegible] the "nerve vitamin."

Thiamine performs for your nerves as it does for your heart. This vitamin helps combat premature old age. When you notice unpleasant changes in your disposition, start taking thiamine tablets and eating thiamine-rich foods to restore your pleasant personality.

[illegible] would have helped her nerves.

Not Enough Greens

[illegible]

Working overtime in his office to make good on a new job had triggered Mr. B.'s illness. Only then did he realize how much those inadequate dinners of sandwiches and soda pop had cost him in health.

It was apparent that he had disdained magnesium-[illegible] salads and [illegible]-cooked greens all his adult life.

These salads coupled with a diet sufficient in protective proteins, vitamins and minerals would have prevented unfavorable chemical changes in his body.

[illegible]

[illegible] supplement is rich in that nerve soother, pyridoxine.

Nature has set up transformers controlling the degree of consciousness with which the nerve impulses reach the brain. Every day millions of impulses are carried through these transformers of which the conscious brain is barely aware.

Nerve exhaustion resulting from inadequate relaxation, however, throws these protective transformers out of order. Then our poor conscious brain is harrassed by a multitude of impulses, having no great consequence, clamoring for immediate and individual attention.

This jangling of uncontrolled nerve [illegible]

Neighbors Offer Aid To Flattened Village

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—Public and private purses opened generously and strong-muscled strangers worked overtime Friday to restore life to this tornado-destroyed town.

Victim of the worst storm disaster in Kansas history, Udall was left with only one habitable structure—a small residence. Already 74 dead and more than 200 injured had been counted out of a population of 500. An estimated 50 were missing.

The casualties were part of the 117 killed and more than 800 injured in a series of vicious twisters that ripped through Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri [illegible]. Property damage in the [illegible] area was estimated in the millions.

Workmen from neighboring towns and cities moved in to help clear tangled wreckage and set up temporary buildings.

In Blackwell, Okla., where 18 were killed and 400 injured by a tornado just before the Udall disaster, most relief work was [illegible]

The full extent of Udall's destruction was measured by Ward Stuber, Winfield, Kan., Red Cross [illegible] chairman. He reported 180 homes wrecked. [illegible] they will have to be razed and only one relatively unscathed. [illegible] business and public buildings were not levelled and those three are unusable.

Hundred Aircraft Winging to City

One hundred visiting private aircraft will invade Patricia Bay airport this week-end, bringing delegates to the aviation conference of the B.C. Aviation Council which opens at the Empress Hotel Sunday.

Today 25 B.C. aircraft will take part in an exposed time race from Vancouver to Patricia Bay via Nanaimo. They will be clocked as they fly over the [illegible]

They will then circle Sidney Island and then fly in formation over Victoria at about 3 p.m.

Visiting fliers will be guests at the airport of the Victoria Flying Club.

On Sunday 20 aircraft of the Sportsmen Pilots of Oregon [illegible] will fly to Patricia Bay airport to take part in the conference. They will stay over night and fly home on Monday.

Two top international figures in aviation will address the conference.

On Sunday Ralph Cohen, of the International Air Transport Association, Montreal, [illegible] speaks. Monday's main speaker will be Carl B. Squier, vice-president and director, Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, California.

Many other aviation officials from [illegible] will attend the conference.

Highway Beauty Spoiled

Halt Shack Towns Jaycees Ask Govt.

B.C.-Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce delegates, in convention here, yesterday rejected a Victoria suggestion that the federal government publish a list of Communist front organizations each year.

The Victoria resolution [illegible] ing names which are in fact tools of communism and are used to spread its propaganda.

Jaycees passed a resolution urging the provincial government to enact and enforce building regulations in all unorganized territories adjacent to municipalities.

The resolution promoted by Alberni District Jaycees claimed there is a tendency to build in unorganized territory adjacent to municipalities to avoid high municipal taxes.

It was claimed that because of lack of building restrictions these dwellings are usually of inferior quality and design and detract from the beauty of highways.

Another Alberni resolution that won support asks that no further schools be built facing [illegible] highways.

Jaycees also recommended a program of standardization of emergency telephone numbers throughout the province and establishment of driver training courses in high schools.

A motion from the Victoria unit, urging any Jaycee who belongs to an organization which practises racial discrimination endeavor to have that part of the constitution revoked, won unanimous support.

They decided to urge the provincial government to ask Ottawa to broaden the basis on which divorces are now granted to include desertion, cruelty and incurable insanity.

Rev. William Hills will address the convention at a mixed luncheon at the Empress Hotel at noon today.

Officers will be installed at the president's dinner at the badminton hall and later the president's ball will be held at the same place.

Court Sets $1,000 Bail For Suspect

Bail was fixed at $1,000 for Dennis Houghton, [illegible], of 1[illegible] Southgate, when he appeared in city police court yesterday charged with theft. He was remanded without plea until Tuesday.

Houghton is accused of stealing blankets, sheets and a coat from the Economy Steam Laundry Thursday.

Bernie Sheragan of Menzies street was sentenced to four months in jail at city court for his part in a car theft at Prince George May 1.

He and James Syvensky, 3220 Quadra, were arrested with the stolen car in Victoria May 17. Syvensky was sentenced earlier to one year on the charge.

John Stewart, 1[illegible]21 Denman, was fined $45 for careless driving and restricted to business driving for two months.

Police said he admitted going through a stop sign at Fernwood and Yates and was in a collision.

Job Picture Still Better For Victoria

Victoria's employment situation continues to improve and there are now 340 fewer people looking for work than there were this time last year.

Unemployment Insurance Commission reports that totals are almost down to the 1953 levels.

Fewer women are seeking work although the number of job-hunting men also dropped from a volume normal for this time of year.

In the men's section the number of vacancies is holding a good level and because of the number of men available in most occupations more are quickly filled.

The commission reports signs of a shortage of graduate engineers, draughtsmen and some metal working and building construction tradesmen.

Jobs for women as waitresses, experienced stenographers and cooks continue to increase, and there are about 100 openings for various types of domestic workers.

LADYSMITH—Donald McKinnon, administrator of Ladysmith General Hospital, left Wednesday for Toronto where he will take a month's special course in hospital administration.

House Records Fall in Keen Rivalry At Junior High School Sports Meets

Three Junior High schools, S. J. Willis, Oak Bay and Lansdowne, held their annual intramural track and field competitions yesterday in which a number of new house records were established.

At S. J. Willis, where individual champions were named, Don Ballard was top junior and big point getter of the day, with 15 points, for firsts in 60 and [illegible] dashes and the broad jump. Ann McKechnie, an intermediate, led the girls with 10 points by winning the 60 yard dash and the high jump.

Champion senior boy was M. Spraggett who cleaned up in the field events, winning the shot put and high jump and placing second in the broad jump. Carl Williams was intermediate winner, taking first in the high jump and broad jump and finishing second in the 100 yard dash.

Jackie Wright and Connie Donaldson tied for top honors in senior girls' competitions and May Guthrie walked away with junior points by winning the 60-yard dash, broad jump and high jump.

Records were broken in nearly half of the events in the Oak bay competitions won by Maquinna House over three other school squads.

At Lansdowne House III edged out three competing teams in a close meet featuring [illegible] track and field events.

Government To Finance Unique Atlas

The provincial government has offered to and the B.C. Natural Resources Conference $50,000 for the publication of a British Columbia atlas of resources.

The money will finance the printing of the atlas and will be repaid from sales. First printing will be 10,000 copies, including 1,000 of a de luxe edition.

Officials said that for the first time in the history of any province or state in North America, "the geography, physical and human, and the natural resources and their state of development are being presented within the covers of a single volume." The atlas will contain 90 color maps with illustrated text facing each map.

First copies will come off the press early in 1956. Officers said early demand makes it apparent the first edition will be exhausted quickly.

Cumberland Holds Election

CUMBERLAND—Peter Cameron and John W. Newman were elected to council here yesterday.

Mr. Cameron, a barber, will fill the seat of the late Thomas Armstrong. He polled 156 votes to Thomas Conrad's 86.

Mr. Newman, retired, received 110 votes to 101 for Clifford W. Davis, to take the seat left vacant by Ald. R. T. Brown.

Public To See Ceremony

Ceremonial dances portraying mythology of Kwaguilth Indians will be seen in public for first time when David Martin, above, Henry Hunt and others stage open-air "Tsa Ka" at Royal Athletic park next month. Kingfisher and deer masks are held by Mr. Martin. Mask held by Mr Hunt depicts a mythical wild man who flew like a bird but walked like a human.

Indian Rites Slated

To perpetuate ceremonial dances, an important part of their culture, Chief Mungo Martin and Kwaguilth Indians of [illegible] will present the first open-air "Tsa Ka" at Royal Athletic park, June 11 to [illegible].

The phrase "Tsa Ka" means winter dances which the chief said yesterday teach youngsters the Kwaguilth history and mythology, initiate young men and women into secret societies and "provide entertainment for our own people."

The event is being held now because the chief feels younger Indians are losing interest in dances "which are their own property and have not been disclosed to the public before."

MAY GO ON TOUR

If the show is successful, several [illegible] may be held each year and the dancers may even go on tour, said John Hamilton, a special agent for the chief, and J. A. [illegible], president of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare society.

Twenty men, women and children will perform the two-hour program of 20 dances on the infield against a backdrop of cedar trees. Only lights will be the cedar log fire of the potlatch.

Lawyer Says Gibson Involved In Try 'To Make Money Talk'

Star witness Gordon Gibson had the tables turned on him yesterday at the Sloan commission when it was suggested he was himself involved in "an attempt to make money talk."

The suggestion came from Cecil Merritt, V.C., acting for Empire Mills Ltd., a Squamish timber concern whose application for a forest management licence was bitterly opposed by Mr. Gibson on behalf of two other firms.

Mr. Merritt referred to a $200,000 offer to the government [illegible] made by Mr. Gibson on behalf of several [illegible] following [illegible] against Empire Mills' licence.

The Empire Mills' counsel said the offer was [illegible] and was not required by the Forest Act as one of the [illegible] for obtaining a forest management licence.

"I could characterize this offer as a case of an attempt to make money talk," Mr. Merritt told the Commission during cross-examination of Mr. Gibson.

After the former Liberal M.L.A. [illegible] Mr. Merritt said: [illegible] attempt [illegible] money talk.

Mr. [illegible] resigned his seat [illegible] after [illegible] charges of money [illegible] in the issuance of forest management licences, resulted in the appointment of Judge Arthur Lord as a one-man commission to investigate his allegations.

Mr. Gibson earlier was [illegible] by Empire Mills [illegible] Empire Mills [illegible] the charge [illegible] the appeal [illegible] Empire Mills [illegible].

'System Unhealthy'

Yesterday, under persistent questioning by Mr. Merritt, Mr. Gibson said Empire Mills [illegible] in good faith [illegible] that it was a good [illegible] work [illegible] the company and money to [illegible] his objections to the whole system.

At one point Mr. Merritt wanted to know if Mr. Gibson wanted "to create the impression that the minister (of lands and forests) is open to bribery."

"Nothing of the kind," Mr. Gibson retorted. He said he was merely stating that a system in which the minister makes the final decision was unhealthy. He said earlier in his brief the licence system should be handled by an independent commission.

"You understand the principle of responsible government, do you not, that the minister is responsible to the legislature?" Mr. Merritt asked.

"They never leave you that impression," Mr. Gibson said.

"Then you don't trust the minister?" Mr. Merritt continued.

"Now wouldn't I be foolish to answer that question," Mr. Gibson replied. His remark was greeted by an outburst of laughter and even Chief Justice Gordon Sloan suppressed a smile.

Earlier, Walter Owen, Q.C., counsel for the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, charged that Mr. Gibson's [illegible] that [illegible] contract conditions in a forest management licence will be [illegible] ignored."

Mr. Owen said the number of independent loggers had increased in the last 10 years and not that licence holders were under even immoral [illegible].

Mr. Owen also challenged a statement made yesterday by Mr. Gibson that loggers made from $3 to $4 a thousand on [illegible] to cut logs.

He demanded to know the name of one man Mr. Gibson said had told him "a bitter story" in this regard.

But Mr. Gibson refused to divulge names. He said it was not fair to the independent operators who must continue to do business with the large firms. He said he must "protect the individuals" concerned but would agree to give the names, in camera, to the commission.

L. S. Eckardt, acting for the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, secured from Mr. Gibson an opinion that applicants [illegible] forest management [illegible] should not make their [illegible] the licence applicants. He said this would prevent what he earlier called "hotel room deals" in [illegible] opponents appearing the licence application.

Chief Justice Sloan intervened during the cross-examination by Mr Eckhardt. The commissioner said he did "not like the expression 'buying off'" in reference to a private deal between applicants and their opponents.

He said it had a "sinister" [illegible] which was [illegible] Mr. Gibson [illegible] said a "private settlement" [illegible] between opposing parties could not be construed as illegal, or [illegible].

Forest Monopoly

At another point Chief Justice Sloan wanted to know how an independent commission would prevent what Mr. Gibson [illegible] forest monopoly [illegible].

The Chief Justice said [illegible] Mr. Gibson [illegible] with the [illegible] Mr. Gibson [illegible] would impose on licencees [illegible] requiring them to buy 30 per cent of their logs at open market prices from independents. There would still be some monopoly, and opportunity for capital gains by transfer of shares.

Still on the [illegible] Mr. Gibson [illegible] Mr. Munroe, [illegible] for B.C. Forest Products [illegible].

He [illegible] Mr. Gibson [illegible] forest management [illegible] when he was elected to the legislature as a Liberal.

"Are you going to pledge your oath here that you got out because you didn't agree with forest management licences?" Mr. Munroe asked.

"That was one of the basic reasons," Mr. Gibson replied.

"But it didn't involve a financial sacrifice, did it?" Mr. Munroe said. Mr. Gibson did not reply.

The hearings will continue Monday at 11 a.m. Mr. Gibson, who has been in the witness stand two days, will probably [illegible].

New Carr Work Comes to Light

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

What may be the highest priced Emily Carr has come to light in the Roberts gallery of Toronto.

It's a portrait of a girl, titled "The Spotted Apron," and is valued by experts at $1,500.

"The Spotted Apron," according to L. J. Wooldridge of the Roberts Gallery, was painted in Vancouver between [illegible] and [illegible].

Mr. Wooldridge writes: "The subject is a girl who lived and worked in Emily Carr's [illegible]. It is one of the very few portraits that Emily Carr painted and can be considered as one of her important works."

The question that now arises is this: who was the girl Emily Carr painted in a spotted apron?

Mr. Wooldridge again: "This [illegible] is a mixture of oil and [illegible] on brown paper. At some time the paper was torn; the paper has been mounted on board and it is my understanding and belief that the mounting and covering was done by the artist."

RINGS LOCAL BELL

All of which rings a local bell.

A few years before Emily [illegible] Mory [illegible] to interview her.

Muttering to himself, and grumbling, "Mory" set out on what he was sure would be a boring assignment—getting a story of her life from a strange old maid who, most people then said, only thought she could paint and write.

Mory, however, was quite enchanted with Emily Carr and Emily evidently took a great fancy to him. She showed him [illegible] and he was struck by the [illegible] number of paintings all over the house [illegible] torn, tattered.

BUT HE LIKED HER

The paintings didn't appeal to Mory, but because he liked Emily Carr right off he showed interest in her work, told her the paintings should be backed with plywood or cardboard.

Emily agreed, but said plywood and cardboard were difficult to get, it being wartime, and that [illegible] some of the paintings or stuff them into the garbage can, which she did with an unknown percentage of her work.

Mory suddenly remembered a lot of post-Pearl Harbor blackout window boards of plywood standing idly in a corridor where he had his office.

Mory hustled back to town, begged the plywood from the management, sent it to Emily's house in James Bay.

SET TO WORK

Thus encouraged, Emily got to work, mended the torn paintings, mounted them on plywood.

This $1,500 painting of "The Spotted Apron" and many others were thus saved by that visit to Emily Carr of a picturesque, [illegible] Irishman, who didn't know a painted sky from a painted sea, but who liked the fellow human who did the work.

'I Hope You're Ashamed'

'Silent' Eye-Witness Rebuked

A supposed eye-witness, believed to have watched while two companions beat a young man unconscious in Beacon Hill park early in the morning of April 8, drew a rebuke from Magistrate Henry Hall in city police court yesterday.

"His evidence is utterly worthless. He is obviously a hostile witness," the magistrate remarked when Alvin W. Veltzel, 4000 Cedar Hill crossroad, was called by the prosecution in the assault hearing of David Morton, 2721 Fernwood, and Hugh Barton, Royal Oak.

"You told police you saw the fight," City Prosecutor Alan Bigelow reminded Veltzel.

But all Veltzel could remember, he said, was "insulting remarks" made by Donald Wilkinson, victim of the alleged assault.

As Veltzel left the witness box, Magistrate Hall remarked that as an eye-witness Veltzel was remembering what he chose to and was "thwarting rather than assisting me to decide a rather difficult case."

"I hope you are ashamed of yourself," the magistrate said.

The trial of the youths, both about 20, was adjourned until May 31 to hear defence evidence.

Dr. S. E. Knapp, 1013 Vancouver, said he attended 26-year-old Wilkinson about 8 p.m., April 8. The patient had a skull fracture behind the right ear, severe concussion and multiple bruises, especially to the left chest.

Wilkinson was in hospital from Apr. 8 to 20, "disoriented" for several days, and is still under a doctor's observation, Dr. Knapp said.

CEREBRAL DAMAGE

Wilkinson suffered an epileptic attack April 11 from cerebral damage but the doctor conceded an attack was better at an early rather than at a later date. He said the skull fracture would not be caused by a fall alone but would "need a propelling force."

Wilkinson, 2760 Cadboro Bay road, testified he could remember nothing of the incident and was "very vague" on happenings prior to it.

Valerie A. Wells, 2345 Cranmore, said she attended a James Bay dance April 7 with Wilkinson and drove with him to a Dallas Road parking strip near the park about 2.30 a.m. April 8.

Under defence questioning that Wilkinson and a man, Harry Turner, had [illegible] at the dance, she said Wilkinson drank beer at the dance but neither he nor she drank after it.

At the Dallas Road parking strip a car with four youths, including the two accused, pulled alongside. Remarks were made from the car but she could not say who made them, Miss Wells said.

After the remarks, Wilkinson left [illegible] and [illegible] to "have it out."

"THEN FIGHT BEGAN"

Miss Wells said that the two accused jumped from their car saying, "Take it." Wilkinson pushed one man into the front seat of their car and a fight began, she said.

She took Wilkinson home unconscious, believing he had suffered only a nose bleed and black eye.

FIVE-SECOND FIGHT

Robert M. Ellis, 2809 Prior, who was with the two accused, said the fight lasted "five or six seconds" and was "just a fist fight." Under prosecution and defence questioning Ellis said remarks passed were "nothing but provocative."

He said there was some pushing and the two accused [illegible] Wilkinson, who fell sprawled on the hardtop pavement [illegible] seven to 10 feet between the cars.

[illegible] and tried to help him into his car, assisted by Veltzel, Ellis said.

[illegible] Wilkinson [illegible].

Veltzel [illegible] said between the [illegible] approached and made remarks [illegible] Morton [illegible] Wilkinson [illegible].

"I didn't see the fight," Veltzel said.

City Plans Crackdown

Prosecutions are in the offing for some 100 contractors, apartment operators, and others who are running their businesses without a current trade license, city hall officials warned yesterday.

License inspector William Wallis estimated that the first cases would come before the courts by June 3 or 4.

The offence carries a maximum penalty of $250.

"Between 50 and 100 operators have received their final warning," commented Mr. Wallis. "But some will still come forward and pay before the case reaches court."

Values May Fall

Alex H. Reed last night was re-elected president of Victoria Real Estate board.

Other officers returned were J. W. D. MacCormac, first vice-president, Russell B. Ker, second vice-president, and directors W. I. Boorman and T. G. M. Custance.

Mr. Reed told the meeting that what goes up must come down, and therefore they should be prepared for a possible future drop in real estate values.

Thieves Rifle Stored Car

Goods valued at more than $150 were taken from the stored car of G. J. Halcombe, Yates Hotel, while he was in hospital during the past week, city police said yesterday.

The car was parked on the roof of Jameson's storage garage May 21. Mr. Halcombe found yesterday that during his absence the left front ventilator window had been forced open.

Missing were an $80 shotgun, binoculars, a $25 pair of car blankets, a $15 windbreaker, tools and towels.

Tretchikoff Overwhelmed

Nearly Sold Out

Artist's Fabulous Success Sends Him Back to Work

BY BARNEY McKINLEY

South African artist Vladimir Tretchikoff has sold almost all his paintings now being exhibited at Eaton's department store here.

Latest sale was "The Fisherman," bought by a Victoria man.

Tretchikoff's exhibition has been viewed by nearly 25,000 Victorians.

Genuinely moved by the reception, the Russian-born painter whose skyrocket success has critics fighting each other to dig up an explanation said he was particularly touched that people on crutches and in wheelchairs had come to see his work.

"A thousand times a day people shake my hand and thank me," he reported.

He said when he asked them why "they tell me it is because the paintings make them feel good."

He feels it is because people understand his symbolism in a way that is impossible with modern abstract art. "They don't feel left behind by it," he says.

People come into the exhibit, he believes, baffled and perplexed by the complexity of modern life and find a release in the straightforward beauty and realism of his paintings.

Actually the work does pack a direct emotional wallop that most people seem to find hard to resist. But there's no trick, Tretchikoff says.

Just to set the record straight there are no lights behind the canvasses to produce the [illegible] effects that intrigue viewers, and there are no metals or phosphorus in the paint. It's all done with plain artist's paints.

But popular as he has proved, Tretchikoff admits he had a bad setback in San Francisco where he told a taxi driver to wait for him after saying his original painting of "The Lost Orchid," would guarantee his return.

"I don't care if it is an original," the cabby said flatly. "I want my 75 cents before you leave the cab."

Actually, Tretchikoff, the man who proved that Americans and Canadians will turn out by the thousands to an art exhibit (after he had been warned by kindly New York reporters to go back home) may soon drop temporarily out of sight again.

He's just about sold himself out of business. Most of his paintings have been sold—for prices up to $4,000. They all went in Canada, the latest to a Victoria man who bought "The Fisherman."

"So Tretchikoff has to go back to work again," he said last night.

But I wish my government would let me take that Cadillac I bought in New York back with me," he sighed. "It was so beautiful."

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

Washing your face does remove soil but it has been found that natural oils are lost in the process. After washing, it is estimated your skin takes from one to three hours to recoup its losses and in the meantime you may experience [illegible] feeling [illegible] a sign that you should do something to [illegible] the skin.

Unless there is something very unusual about your skin, you can wash it as frequently as you wish. Simply follow every washing with a light cold creaming or similar treatment. This helps restore the elasticity of the skin and combats the drying elements of water and soap. It also provides an excellent base for your make-up.

When your skin is freshly washed it is [illegible] according to the findings of modern dermatology. During the immediate period following, and for a few hours, skin problems such as dryness, cracking, flaking, the oxidation of secretions that later become blackheads can all get a start. Lubricating the skin helps prevent such troubles getting a foothold.

A light creaming after each washing takes but a few seconds and the excess should be wiped off quickly. It is the thin film that remains which gives you a nice base for make-up, or if you have experimented and feel the need for it, [illegible] the cream with a skin freshener.

There's a [illegible] your skin, and you alone can learn its preferences and tolerances by experimenting.

Don't neglect using your cold cream for deep [illegible] before [illegible] for this new purpose. Wipe [illegible] and a very [illegible] again to [illegible] as you drift off to slumberland.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

Q. Does the invitation to a church wedding request "the honour of your presence" or "the pleasure of your company"?

A. This type of invitation always requests "the honour of your presence." The invitation to the reception requests "the pleasure of your company." Remember, "honour" is spelled on these invitations in the old-fashioned way, with a "u."

Q. Is it necessary for the hostess at a [illegible] party to [illegible]?

A. This isn't necessary.

Q. Is it proper to mail out engraved announcements of an engagement?

A. While not exactly improper, it is not customary.

Q. What is the proper way to introduce a young man to an elderly man?

A. The young man should be presented to the older man, mentioning the elder man's name first, as "Mr. Ma[illegible], may I present Mr. Hudson" or "Edward Hudson."

Flour Sacks

Empty flour sacks can be used for various purposes around the home, and the printed letters can be removed as follows: Rub pure lard thoroughly into the letters and figures, soak in lukewarm water for a few days, then put in boiler with soap flakes and boil. If lettering is not entirely removed, repeat the process.

Paper Patterns

Perforations can be easily placed in [illegible] patterns by running them through the sewing machine without using thread.

Making a Cork Fit

When the cork is just a trifle too small, soak it for a few minutes in boiling water and it will expand.

TV Talk

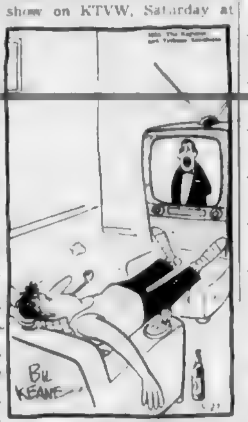
BY ROY PARRETT

Davy Crocket and the City of Victoria are considered equal attractions on channel 13. Both are involved in Roy Gordon's children's show on KTVW, Saturday at 6 p.m.

On a recent program Mr. Gordon asked his young viewers to send in [illegible] Crockett and what they think Davy would want them to do for summer safety.

He got so many replies that the program developed into a regular safety slogan contest.

The prizes? A complete Davy Crocket outfit, including the all-important cap and an excursion trip "to see the beauties of Victoria, B.C."



"Friends, why not learn to relax?"

* * *

BRITISH TV. Our friends in England have taken to television in a big way. At the end of last year there were nearly 4,000,000 sets in England and Wales, 215,000 in thrifty Scotland and about 20,000 in Northern Ireland.

* * *

THE PREAKNESS STAKES. The second event in the Triple Crown of racing will be seen on both KTNT-TV and KVOS-TV direct from Pimlico Race Track in Baltimore, this afternoon at 2:30.

* * *

BASEBALL. The Brooklyn Dodgers meet the New York Giants in the TV "Game of the Week" on channels 11 and 12 at 10:45 this morning.

CRIME REPORT. A quarter-hour report on the crime problem in Seattle including personal appearances of police officials of the Washington city, will be featured on KOMO-TV tonight at 7.

HOLLYWOOD CAPERS. It is one hilarious moment after another when four Hollywood hopefuls try to break into the big time on KOMO-TV at 8:30 in "So This Is Hollywood."

UNDERWATER ADVENTURE. Col. John D. Craig, veteran deepsea diver and underwater camera expert, returns with pictures of a Polynesian Paradise on KING-TV's "I Search For Adventure" at 8 p.m.

TEXAS RASSLIN'. Two one-fall preliminary warm-ups proceed the main tag event between Argentina Zuma and Pedro Martinez and Demon Jack O'Brien and Leopard Boy on KVOS-TV at 8:30.

FAMILY AFFAIR—"Just a Short Visit," the On Camera presentation on CBUT at 9:30 tells of the change in a son's affection for his mother after his marriage, and of the steps she took to meet the situation.

DOUBLE BILL. Robert Donat stars in "The Count of Monte Cristo" on KVOS-TV at 9:30, which will be followed by a chiller thriller "Devil Bat's Daughter," which is just as creepy as it sounds.

THAT NOSE. It is that man Durante on the Texaco Show at 9:30 on KOMO-TV.

THOSE EYES. Just about everything that can happen to a leatherneck occurs on the Eddie Cantor Comedy Theatre at 9:30 when Banjo Eyes presents "This Marine Went to Town" on KING-TV.

OLD LONESOME.—George Gobel has invited Garry Moore to his show on channel 4 at 10, which should make for a few laughs.

LATE SHOWS. The story of an old lady who "adopts" a schoolboy bearing the name of her son, who was expelled from the university 20 years before, is the KOMO-TV movie, "Someone to Remember," at 11:15. Ann Dvorak and Gene Evans star in "I Was An American Spy," on KING-TV at 11:10.

RITA DEL MAR

SATURDAY, MAY 28, 1955

Today's quotation: "The reason why lovers never weary of one another is this—they are always talking of themselves."
—La Rochefoucauld.

Saturday for everyone: The accent is on personality, charm today. Enjoy some sociability, relaxation, fun. It is a good time for entertaining. Buy for beauty or style as well as necessity. Steer clear of a tendency to complications in the morning.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) —Get duties cleared away early. Shop, or attend to health or service interests later.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) —Seek to realize cherished objectives. Be impersonal; see your way ahead clearly. Enjoy yourself.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) —Straighten things out in domestic and work setups. You should be building on solid ground.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer) —Be sure of yourself and moves, and then go ahead. Let others know what you are thinking.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Map out your plans for the day carefully; seek to gain financially or to buy to advantage.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Bring charm, wit into play in dealings. Be willing to meet others half-way.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Work on matters of a private or confidential nature. Ask for help or be generous with aid.

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Associates, friends are ready to back you up. Have a good time during the afternoon and evening.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Gain the support of superiors, influential persons. Take care of duties; your efforts will be recognized.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn)—Give some time to matters of future importance. Seek aid of other people in your projects.

January 20 to February 18 (Aquarius)—Work to strengthen assets, build up a feeling of well-being. Be economical.

February 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Enlist the aid of associates, those in your community, relatives, and lend a hand where called upon.

Planning ahead — Good for entertainment, sociability, etc.—May 28, 29, 31.

The bidding:

EAST	SOUTH	WEST	NORTH
1 ◊	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ◊	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ◊	Pass	5 N.T.	Pass
6 N.T.	All pass

At the other table, East passed this hand and the bidding died at three no-trump. No virtue is claimed for having reached six no-trump on this deal, since the chances are somewhat against making the twelve tricks. West needs to win five club tricks (by a split, by dropping the queen-jack, or one of these honors along with the nine). After that, it still requires some good fortune to make twelve tricks, although a diamond split, or the spade finesse, or a successful squeeze will do it. But the bidding exemplifies a new bidding convention, as used in the Vanderbilt Team of Four tourney by George Rapee (East) and Howard Schenken (West.

This convention permits opening bids that may possibly be somewhat light of usual standards—as witness Rapee's bid on this deal. It is safeguarded by the rule that a light opening must be shown by a minimum rebid of his suit on the part of the opener. Thus, East's three diamond bid told West that his partner had a substancial hand. When, in spite of this information, West persisted to five no-trump, East decided that his hand might have been worse and bid the slam.

Conventions such as this are not recommended for the usual rubber bridge game. They are typical development of tournament competition, where many experts claim that straight-down-the-middle bidding is not good enough to win against the constantly improving competition. Conventions like this are entirely legal, because they are announced to the opponents who, presumably, know as much about what is going on as do the partners using the convention. But any method which permits opening the bidding more often is apt to be successful because it pre-empts the field. If you can't "get thar fustest with the mostest," it often pays at least to get thar fustest.

City Anglicans To Observe College Sunday

Anglican churches in Victoria along with others in the province and the Yukon will recognize June 5 as annual Theological College Sunday.

The problems of training and supplying young men for the ministry from the college on the University of B.C. campus will be brought before Anglican congregations through the province.

Dr. Hugh Frederick Woodhouse, college principal, reports a shortage of candidates for the ministry has existed during the past few years.

The college, governed by a board of bishops, clergy and laity, represents the six dioceses, B.C., Caledonia, Cariboo, Kootenay, New Westminster and Yukon.

Each man who enters the college is expected to pay fees, tuition, board and residence, but cost of training averages $1,000 more than these fundamentals, the principal noted.

Nation-wide Theological College Sunday provides 11 per cent of the total upkeep of the country's Anglican colleges, says Dr. Woodhouse.

But he adds that the Vancouver school, the newest in Canada, depends largely on the success of the special Sunday.

TORONTO (CP)—Evangelist Billy Graham will return to Toronto to conduct a revival crusade at the Canadian National Exhibition Coliseum September 18 to October 16, his crusade director, Willis Haymaker, said here yesterday. Mr. Haymaker said: "The potential of Toronto for religion is unlimited."

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — All months of flax again made new seasonal highs in active trading today on the grain exchange.

Buying in flax was fairly general, with shippers, exporters and others making purchases while offerings were light. Trade reports indicated parcel-lot sales to the Continent.

Oats also received good action, with shippers and exporters on the buying side, indicating some business developed overnight. Offerings here, too, were light. Barley and rye were less active.

Flax and oats prices were firm at the close, while barley and rye held to a narrow and generally lower range.

Base Metals And Papers Lead Market

MONTREAL (CP)—Strong base metal and paper sections led the stock market to higher ground in brisk trading Friday.

International Paper, up 2 points, spearheaded the movement. Advances of 1¾ were chalked up in Great Lakes, Anglo-Canadian Pulp and International Nickel. Consolidated Paper climbed 1⅛ while Algoma and St. Lawrence each firmed a point.

Consolidated Smelters, BC Telephone and Abitibi each rose ⅜.

Seagrams was off ⅛.

Features in a higher mining section included Hollinger, up $1.50, and Radiore, up 45 cents.

Algoma Weakens

TORONTO (CP) — Steady buying pushed prices up sharply to record levels at the Toronto Stock exchange Friday.

Industrials and base metals led the day-long advance with the former hitting record index highs along the way and the latter group ending on a two-year peak.

General Dynamics jumped $2 and between $1 and $2 higher were Aluminum, Canada Malting, Canadian Car, Consolidated Paper, International Utilities, Great Lakes Paper and International Petroleum.

Algoma continued to ease among a few lower issues after its sharp rise last week. It fell ⅜.

Aircrafts Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market went through a lot of irregularity Friday and closed mixed.

The situation was ascribed to the three - day weekend for the Memorial Day recess Monday when all security and financial markets in the United States will be closed.

Aircrafts were ahead, but most other major divisions were mixed to lower.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — The London stock market was buoyant with the Conservative success in the general election aiding sentiment. Conditions were active, especially in early trading.

The highlights were advances in steels and shares of companies that had been threatened with nationalization.

Oil Stocks Better

VANCOUVER — Industrial continued strong with B.C. Telephone at $48, Westminster Paper $25¼ and Alberta Distillers 2.15. Capital Estates made a gain of 15 cents at 5.40.

Canadian Collieries posted a 40 cents gain at 9.25, and Anglo-Canadian Oil was up 10 cents at 6.10. Vantor was up two cents at 77 cents.

In mines Granduc was $5 and National Exploration 1.96, both up on the day.

CNR Pulling Clear of Recession

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

If, as railroad men contend, the volume of traffic is the best guide to the nation's economic health, then Canada seems to be surely coming out of the recession that made 1954 a bad one for both of Canada's main railways.

The CNR figures for the first four months of 1955 show net revenue to be $9,215,000 against a deficit of $1,803,000 in the similar period of 1954.

The tempo of the recovery also appears to be increasing, for in April the net revenue amounted to $5,011,000, eight times more than it was in April 1954.

It is significant, however, that although the CNR figures are so much better, the operating revenues are up only $1,000,000 while the operating expenses are down $10,000,000.

This is probably a combination of the fruits of increased dieselization and better management.

SELL-OUT RECOMMENDED

Directors of Thrift Stores, an eastern Canada grocery chain have recommended shareholders to sell out lock-stock and barrel to Dominion Stores for an offered $40 a share.

This would nullify Thrift's recent proposal to make a stock split.

If Dominion absorbs Thrift it will have 300 stores with annual sales in excess of $200,000,000.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — Advances of a point were featured in generally quiet trading on Montreal bond markets.

'HORRIBLE THEFTS' CITED IN POST OFFICE

Officials 'Derelict'

OTTAWA (BUP) — An eight-hour House debate on the affairs of the post office department ended Friday after Opposition members complained about "horrible" thefts from post offices.

William Hamilton (PC-Montreal Notre Dame de Grace) led the attack on the department. The House went through the $133,000,000 estimates in less than 20 minutes once the general debate was wound up.

Hamilton said he was "horrified" by the number of post office thefts in recent months.

"This record indicates that adequate care and attention is not being taken to Her Majesty's mails. The post office is derelict in following through once a theft has occurred . . . and in prosecuting those responsible for it," he said.

"I really must protest," Pickersgill interrupted at one point. "Is (Hamilton) suggesting that there is any deliberate intent on the part of anyone connected with the post office to connive at these thefts . . . or fails to do his duty in prosecuting?

"There is not a jot or tittle of truth in it," he snapped.

Hamilton said his criticism was of the "extremely weak investigatory work" in the department. He said there was a "steady uptrend" in thefts and in the amount of money stolen from post offices.

According to figures given to him by the department, he said, "Four out of five persons who steal from the post office get off scot free."

Pickersgill pointed out that prosecutions were not the responsibility of the post office department.

They're Away This Morning

Million dollars worth of luxury sailing yachts graced Victoria's inner harbor yesterday, waiting for the start of Pacific Northwest's annual yachting classic, the 135-measured-mile Swiftsure race. Start will be from Brotchie ledge at 9.30 a.m. today. The fleet of 20 yachts will remain in sight until they round Race rocks. A live tack-by-tack commentary of the race will be shown in the windows of the T. Eaton Co. store up to 11.30 p.m. Details of the positions of various competitors may be obtained from the Royal Victoria Yacht club, 4-5513, or The Daily Colonist, 3-4111. It is expected the first yachts will reach the finish line here late Sunday night or early Monday.

'Too Many Bloodsuckers'

'Bad Risk' Loans Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said Friday ment-backed institution in Canada there is need for some govern- to provide small loans at low fixed interest rates to persons who have no credit standing.

It is "shocking," he told the Commons, that the small loan borrower has to pay 24 per cent annual interest. It was "usurious" and indicated the characteristics of "bloodsuckers."

There are "too many of these bloodsuckers in this country ready to live on the avails of destitution," Mr. Low said.

What is needed, Mr. Low said, is some government - backed agency, either provincial or federal, where such a person could get money quickly and cheaply in small amounts to meet emergencies.

He spoke on a bill introduced by Hazen Argue (CCF — Assiniboia) to cut the monthly interest rate under the Small Loans Act to one per cent from two. The act regulates finance companies in the small loans field.

The „Social Credit leader said the whole matter of small loans should be thoroughly studied by a parliamentary committee, perhaps at the next session.

W. M. Benidickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Harris, also suggested the matter should be taken up next session. It was too late to give it adequate study now.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said the finance companies should be put "out of business." They got most of their money from insurance companies and banks at four per cent interest and then loaned it to the public at 24 per cent per annum.

Craig Denies Licence Deal

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sam Craig, Tofino logging operator, denied Friday that he had been involved in a "deal" to suppress an appeal against a forest management licence.

In telephone interviews with two Vancouver newspapers, Craig said former Liberal member of the legislature Gordon Gibson had the facts wrong in his testimony to the Sloan royal commission.

Gibson testified Thursday that Craig, partner and manager of the C. and B. Logging Co. at Tofino, had accepted a promise of 26,000,000 feet of timber in exchange for withdrawing his appeal against granting a licence to B.C. Forest Products Ltd. in the Clayoquot area.

Craig said Friday he would seek a hearing next weekend before the commission to present his side of the story.

"I had asked the government for permission to purchase cutting rights for two lots of timber in the jublic working circle—one for 20,000,000 board feet and another for 8,000,000 feet.

"Both the government and the company were very co-operative. The cabinet told me they could not sell me the timber until the forest management licence had been negotiated.

"H. G. Munro, president of B.C. Forest Products, offered to work out any differences that might arise between us."

Craig said that as a result of these "friendly discussions" the company had sold him the 20,000,000 board feet at the market price. Now the government has put the other 8,000,000 feet up for sale and Craig is buying it.

The logging operator denied that there was any "hotel room deal" as Gibson charged.

B.C. Forest Products didn't invite him to a January 26 meeting, he said. "I phoned them and made the appointment.'

Move 'Too Late' Say U.K. Railmen

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government failed Friday night in an attempt to arrange some last-minute conciliation which could avert a country-wide railroad strike set for midnight tonight.

Union officials, who ordered locomotive engineers and firemen to quit work in demand for higher pay scales, said the government conciliation offer came "too late."

Eden's cabinet conferred for 70 minutes Friday night at 10 Downing street on the threatened rail crisis.

The last-minute conciliation offer had come from the transport ministry after Eden had conferred with Transport Minister Sir Walter Monckton. The government offered to set up a board of reconciliation to handle the dispute.

Faced with the prospect of no regular train service, the government set up a system of priority items—mail, food, coal, medicine and newspapers—to be carried on the few trains likely to run.

Boy Eyes Future

Some day he will be a Sea Cadet, but last night John Greig, seven, had to be content with a close-up look at cadets taking part in the first sunset ceremonial of the season. Sea Cadets, left to right, are Michael Roberts, Michael Muirhead, Gary Sturrock. More than 1,500 persons watched the ceremony.

Yachts, Cadets, Chanties Give Causeway Crowd Nautical Night

Victorians last night wree treated to their first waterfront entertainment of the summer season.

About 1,500 persons lined the causeway on Government and Belleville to see yachts entered in today's Swiftsure classic and to hear the Meistersingers give a concert of sea chanties from the deck of the schooner Black Dog.

The crowd shifted to the Legislative Buildings grounds to watch the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps present the sunset ceremonial.

Seventeen of the entries in the Swiftsure race were in full dress in the Inner harbor when becaped Mayor Claude Harrison, F. W. Nicolls, commodore of the Royal Victoria Yacht club, and Andrew Wright, vice-commodore of the Pacific International Yachting association, visited all the yachts to extend an official welcome.

As they moved among the million dollars' worth of luxury craft, W. H. Colby described each yacht over a public address system, giving their dimensions, history and racing records.

The sunset ceremonial was the first of a series that will be presented every week untill the end of August by navy, army and militia units.

The sea cadet bugle, drum, and trumpet band led the 21-man guard and two divisions of cadets to the grounds, and performance of the ceremony which dates back to the Crusades was almost letter-perfect.

Lieut. W. W. Ross was parade commander and Lieut. H. E. Renton guard commander. Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur Dando gave a commentary of the ceremonial as it was performed.

The Meistersingers under the direction of F. Dudley Wicket gave a performance that pleased everyone in the crowd.

Songs from HMS Pinafore, sea chanties and nautical ditties formed the program. The singers, dressed in white shirts, stood out well against the black hull of the schooner as they put lively action into most of their renditions.

'Wanton Waste'

CHICAGO (UP)—Millions of holiday-happy Americans turned the nation's highways into a frustrating mass of automobiles Friday night as they rushed to celebrate the first holiday of the summer.

The national safety council predicted that 360 persons would die in highway crashes during the three-day Memorial Day weekend, starting at 6 p.m. Friday night and ending at midnight Monday, in a "wanton waste" of human lives.

Single Gems Up to $14,000 . . . . . . And Acres of Them

New Lode Touches Off Diamond Rush

JOHANNESBURGH, South Africa (NANA)—A diamond rush which promises to be one of the richest in South Africa's gem-strewn history is under way.

Enthusiastic reports from the new gem front, which has been opened in remote bush country at Bellsbank, northwest of Kimberley, tell of prospectors finding "hundreds" of gems. A settlement of hastily built huts, tents and stone structures just high enough for a man to lie down in has sprung up around the 1,000-acre tract where the fossicking is concentrated.

Most prospectors have been granted individual claims of 25 yards square on the diamond field, which stretches for some 500 yards along a six-foot wide fissure.

In this fissure the diamond-hunters, aided by natives, are digging frantically for gems—and finding them.

Biggest validated find at Bellsbank has been a diamond weighing nearly half an ounce that sold for more than $14,000 Others have brought $11,- to $12,000. Gems worth $2,000 or more are being unearthed almost daily.

Diamond diggers returning here, some with their pockets full of jewels they expect will net them a fortune, recount how the hunters must blast their way through solid rock to reach the "yellow ground" which is yielding the diamonds.

Some use compressors and pneumatic drills, while others, too excited to wait out equipment delivery, are employing the same sort of tools used in the famous Kimberley diamond rush of 80 years ago.

Some diggers have gone 50 feet into the ground, as native laborers fill buckets which are hauled to the top by derricks.

The fortune hunters are hoping to reach a stratum of the so-called "blue ground," the even richer mineral from which the diamonds of Kimberley's mines are extracted. Many of the prospectors are convinced that Bellsbank will produce fabulous wealth.

Diamond buyers here describe the diamonds found at Bellsbank as of top class.

The Bellsbank strike is bringing a boom to the diamond-buying market of Barkly West, 45 miles away, centre of the alluvial digging along the banks of the Vaal river.

At Kimberley itself, centre of the world's diamond-mining industry, William Gallagher, general manager of the de Beers group of mines, said that millions of pounds of gems were now being extracted from mine-rock dumps once thought useless. Modern equipment is tracing the small "waste" diamonds left unextracted by the former less-efficient methods.

One hundred miles north of Kimberley, at Schweitzer-Reneke on the Hartz river, another frontier was opened in the unending search for diamonds when the first digging licences were issued last week.

Among the applicants for licences, according to government officials, are many widows of former prospectors who, like their husbands, are also stricken with diamond fever.

It is just 50 years ago that the dream of every diamond digger came true for Frederick Wells, an employee of a mine near Pretoria. Wells was out strolling when he spotted the glitter of a gem near the mine surface. He had found the 3,025-carat Cullinan, history's biggest diamond. It is now, in separate parts, in the British crown jewels. His rewardt a bonus of £2,000.

Boy, 4, Swept to Sea; Saved

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A four-year-old boy owes his life to villagers, a mercy plane and an inhalator crew after he floated out to sea on the tide.

Matthew Vickers, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vickers of Kitkatla, was in good condition here Friday after escaping death by drowning.

The boy was spotted floating face down off Kitkatla beach by Rev. Samuel Kinley, Anglican minister.

Mr. Kinley plunged into rescue the boy but had to be helped out of difficulties himself by fishermen who put out in a boat.

A team of fishermen kept up artificial respiration for an hour before the arrival of Dr. J. A. MacDonald and firemen Jack Franks of Prince Rupert.

The men and an inhalator were flown to the scene by Queen Charlotte Airlines.

"The child responded immediately the inhalator was applied," Dr. MacDonald said.

The boy is believed to have fallen off a float and drifted out to sea. He was missing about 15 minutes before he was discovered.

They're Away This Morning

Million dollars worth of luxury sailing yachts graced Victoria's inner harbor yesterday, waiting for the start of Pacific Northwest's annual yachting classic, the 135-measured-mile Swiftsure race. Start will be from Brotchie ledge at 9.30 a.m. today. The fleet of 20 yachts will remain in sight until they round Race rocks. A live tack-by-tack commentary of the race will be shown in the windows of the T. Eaton Co. store up to 11.30 p.m. Details of the positions of various competitors may be obtained from the Royal Victoria Yacht club, 4-5513, or The Daily Colonist, 3-4111. It is expected the first yachts will reach the finish line here late Sunday night or early Monday.

'Horrible' Situation

Four of Five Mail Thieves Go Scot-Free, Says MP

Officials 'Derelict'

OTTAWA (BUP) — An eight-hour House debate on the affairs of the post office department ended Friday after Opposition members complained about "horrible" thefts from post offices.

William Hamilton (PC-Montreal Notre Dame de Grace) led the attack on the department. The House went through the $133,000,000 estimates in less than 20 minutes once the general debate was wound up.

Hamilton said he was "horrified" by the number of post office thefts in recent months.

"This record indicates that adequate care and attention is not being taken to Her Majesty's mails. The post office is derelict in following through once a theft has occurred . . . and in prosecuting those responsible for it," he said.

"I really must protest," Pickersgill interrupted at one point. "Is (Hamilton) suggesting that there is any deliberate intent on the part of anyone connected with the post office to connive at these thefts . . . or fails to do his duty in prosecuting?

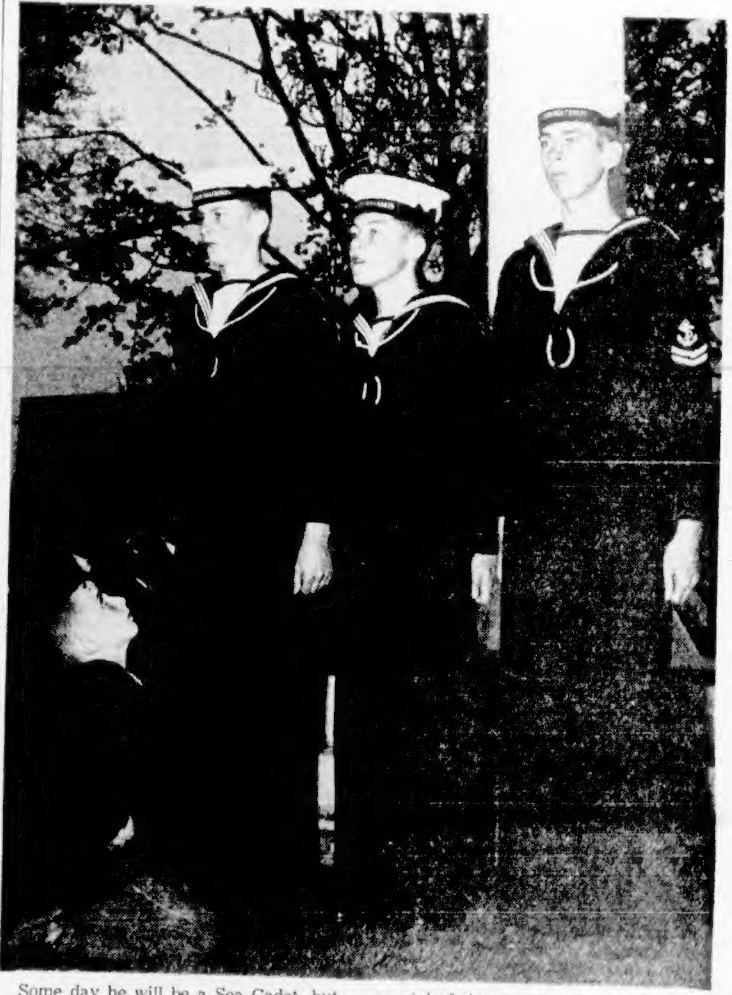
"There is not a jot or tittle of truth in it," he snapped.

Hamilton said his criticism was of the "extremely weak investigatory work" in the department. He said there was a "steady uptrend" in thefts and in the amount of money stolen from post offices.

According to figures given to him by the department, he said, "Four out of five persons who steal from the post office get off scot free."

Pickersgill pointed out that prosecutions were not the responsibility of the post office department. He said its officials merely gave information on the thefts to law enforcement officials who handled the investigations.

Boy Eyes Future



Some day he will be a Sea Cadet, but last night John Greig, seven, had to be content with a close-up look at cadets taking part in the first sunset ceremonial of the season. Sea Cadets, left to right, are Michael Roberts, Michael Muirhead, Gary Sturrock. More than 1,500 persons watched the ceremony.

'Too Many Bloodsuckers'

'Bad Risk' Loans Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said Friday there is need for some government-backed institution in Canada to provide small loans at low fixed interest rates to persons who have no credit standing.

It is "shocking," he told the Commons, that the small loan borrower has to pay 24 per cent annual interest. It was "usurious" and indicated the characteristics of "bloodsuckers."

There are "too many of these bloodsuckers in this country ready to live on the avails of destitution," Mr. Low said.

What is needed, Mr. Low said, is some government - backed agency, either provincial or federal, where such a person could get money quickly and cheaply in small amounts to meet emergencies.

He spoke on a bill introduced by Hazen Argue (CCF — Assiniboia) to cut the monthly interest rate under the Small Loans Act to one per cent from two. The act regulates finance companies in the small loans field.

The Social Credit leader said the whole matter of small loans should be thoroughly studied by a parliamentary committee, perhaps at the next session.

W. M. Benidickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Harris, also suggested the matter should be taken up next session. It was too late to give it adequate study now.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said the finance companies should be put "out of business." They got most of their money from insurance companies and banks at four per cent interest and then loaned it to the public at 24 per cent per annum.

The bill was still under discussion when the hour given to consideration of private bills expired.

Increase Called For

UN Aid Termed 'Token Program'

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said Friday the United Nations technical assistance program for under-developed countries now is no more than a "token program" or "gesture of good will."

The Canadian director-general of the UN technical assistance administration told the UN Association in Canada that no serious indentation can be made on the problem unless the contributing countries increase their grants. He suggested increases of 20 per cent a year during the next few years.

Earlier, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the same group:

"I think it would be a mistake for us to become preoccupied with the matter of amount (of money given under-developed countries) to a point where we lose sight of the question of quality, which is also important. . . .

"Even the most massive amounts of money and vast numbers of technicians, if provided in the wrong way — that is, indiscriminately, extravagantly or without proper regard for the practical problems involved—might accomplish less than our present programs and might in the process create a less wholesome relationship between the under-developed countries and the West."

Dr. Keenleyside's remarks before the association were substantially the same as his testimony earlier in the day before the Commons external affairs committee.

He said that in the last 18 months his agency has had to turn down four requests for aid for each one it has granted.

Some 75 countries have contributed about $28,000,000 to the UN technical assistance program this year. Canada's contribution is $1,500,000. Twenty countries, not including Canada, increased their grants this year.

Dr. Kenleyside said some nations which needed help were getting discouraged because they could not obtain the requested technical assistance.

'Wanton Waste'

CHICAGO (UP)—Millions of holiday-happy Americans turned the nation's highways into a frustrating mass of automobiles Friday night as they rushed to celebrate the first holiday of the summer.

The national safety council predicted that 360 persons would die in highway crashes during the three-day Memorial Day weekend, starting at 6 p.m. Friday night and ending at midnight Monday, in a "wanton waste" of human lives.

Strike at Midnight

Move 'Too Late' Say U.K. Railmen

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government failed Friday night in an attempt to arrange some last-minute conciliation which could avert a country-wide railroad strike set for midnight tonight.

Union officials, who ordered locomotive engineers and firemen to quit work in demand for higher pay scales, said the government conciliation offer came "too late."

Eden's cabinet conferred for 70 minutes Friday night at 10 Downing street on the threatened rail crisis.

The last-minute conciliation offer had come from the transport ministry after Eden had conferred with Transport Minister Sir Walter Monckton. The government offered to set up a board of reconciliation to handle the dispute.

Faced with the prospect of no regular train service, the government set up a system of priority items—mail, food, coal, medicine and newspapers—to be carried on the few trains likely to run.

Adenauer Pleads For Disarmament

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called on the United States Friday to submit a new world disarmament plan to the Big Four conference this summer.

He spoke in a lower house debate that wound up with rejection of a Socialist proposal to postpone arming of West Germany as the newest member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The vote of 244 to 145 endorsed Adenauer's policy of putting German armed forces in the West's defence lines.

The Chancellor said, however, that world disarmament must be the primary and decisive issue when President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden, French Premier Edgar Faure and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin hold their "meeting at the summit."

The United States, as the world's strongest power, "can and should make certain that disarmament is being given serious consideration and intensively and effectively advanced," the 77-year-old German leader said.

"The time for disarmament was never better.

SOVIET SPENDING HIGH

Adenauer said the Soviet bloc cannot continue the present pace of its rearmament.

"On the contrary, it must substantially reduce its expenditures for this purpose if it wants to do some measure of justice to its most pressing tasks."

Turning to other issues that may face the Big Four leaders, he said "a small part of American public opinion" has welcomed talk of creating a belt of armed, neutral states across Europe.

"If such a belt were created, all Europe would in short time fall prey to Communism," Adenauer added. "The balance of forces at present existing in the world would be destroyed in favor of Soviet Russia. The United States would be placed in extreme jeopardy. The establishment of the projected neutral belt would free the Soviet Union's rear in Europe so that it could act all the more forcefully in the Pacific region."

Yachts, Cadets, Chanties Give Causeway Crowd Nautical Night

Victorians last night were treated to their first waterfront entertainment of the summer season.

About 1,500 persons lined the causeway on Government and Belleville to see yachts entered in today's Swiftsure classic and to hear the Meistersingers give a concert of sea chanties from the deck of the schooner Black Dog.

The crowd shifted to the Legislative Buildings grounds to watch the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps present the sunset ceremonial.

Seventeen of the entries in the Swiftsure race were in full dress in the Inner harbor when becaped Mayor Claude Harrison, F. W. Nicolls, commodore of the Royal Victoria Yacht club, and Andrew Wright, vice-commodore of the Pacific International Yachting association, visited all the yachts to extend an official welcome.

As they moved among the million dollars' worth of luxury craft, W. H. Colby described each yacht over a public address system, giving their dimensions, history and racing records.

The sunset ceremonial was the first of a series that will be presented every week untill the end of August by navy, army and militia units.

The sea cadet bugle, drum, and trumpet band led the 21-man guard and two divisions of cadets to the grounds, and performance of the ceremony which dates back to the Crusades was almost letter-perfect.

Lieut. W. W. Ross was parade commander and Lieut. H. E. Renton guard commander. Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur Dando gave a commentary of the ceremonial as it was performed.

The Meistersingers under the direction of F. Dudley Wicket gave a performance that pleased everyone in the crowd.

Songs from HMS Pinafore, sea chanties and nautical ditties formed the program. The singers, dressed in white shirts, stood out well against the black hull of the schooner as they put lively action into most of their renditions.

Single Gems Up to $14,000 . . . . . . And Acres of Them

New Lode Touches Off Diamond Rush

JOHANNESBURGH, South Africa (NANA)—A diamond rush which promises to be one of the richest in South Africa's gem-strewn history is under way.

Enthusiastic reports from the new gem front, which has been opened in remote bush country at Bellsbank, northwest of Kimberley, tell of prospectors finding "hundreds" of gems. A settlement of hastily built huts, tents and stone structures just high enough for a man to lie down in has sprung up around the 1,000-acre tract where the fossicking is concentrated.

Most prospectors have been granted individual claims of 25 yards square on the diamond field, which stretches for some 500 yards along a six-foot wide fissure.

In this fissure the diamond-hunters, aided by natives, are digging frantically for gems—and finding them.

Biggest validated find at Bellsbank has been a diamond weighing nearly half an ounce that sold for more than $14,000 Others have brought $11,- to $12,000. Gems worth $2,000 or more are being unearthed almost daily.

Diamond diggers returning here, some with their pockets full of jewels they expect will net them a fortune, recount how the hunters must blast their way through solid rock to reach the "yellow ground" which is yielding the diamonds.

Some use compressors and pneumatic drills, while others, too excited to wait out equipment delivery, are employing the same sort of tools used in the famous Kimberley diamond rush of 80 years ago.

Some diggers have gone 50 feet into the ground, as native laborers fill buckets which are hauled to the top by derricks.

The fortune hunters are hoping to reach a stratum of the so-called "blue ground," the even richer mineral from which the diamonds of Kimberley's mines are extracted. Many of the prospectors are convinced that Bellsbank will produce fabulous wealth.
